Direct Talks With Ho Are Offered by Thieu

Proposal To be Sent To Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu will send a letter to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh proposing that they meet to talk peace, a spokesman for Thieu said today.

Thieu's letter will offer a one-week pause in the bombing of North Vietnam if Hanoi shows some willingness to talk about peace, the spokesman said.

"Thieu would only meet with Ho Chi Minh," the spokesman said, "but he will not meet with any lesser official. If the North Vietnamese propose a meeting at a lower level, we will send a lower-level official of our own. We will meet at any level."

Ho

Thieu

After Inauguration

He added that the letter would go out shortly after Thieu is inaugurated Oct. 30, probably through diplomatic channels, though he said it might be delivered via the press.

"The letter will propose a meeting between Saigon and Hanoi at a time and place agreeable to both," he said. "If Hanoi agrees to meet, Thieu will offer a bombing pause of the North of one week."

The spokesman said even if Hanoi did not agree to a meeting, the bombing pause would go into effect if the North Vietnamese "show their good will by stopping the infiltration of the South or stop making trouble in the South."

However, the bombing pause would last only one week and no longer unless some type of meeting is arranged, the spokesman said.

Campaign Promise

Thieu announced in August during the presidential campaign that he would offer a bombing pause if Hanoi showed some indication of willingness to meet with representatives of his government. He later said he would make the offer a week or 10 days after his inauguration.

This is the first time the government has announced that a letter actually will be sent to Ho Chi Minh offering the bombing pause. The letter could go through a third country or be delivered by a member of the International Control Commission, whose Indian, Polish and

Pizza Vs. Smorgasbords

Judge Turns Over New Leif on Columbus Day

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno says he has new evidence that it was the Italians, not the Vikings, who discovered America.

"I have traveled up and down the Atlantic seaboard and never did I find any evidence of smorgasbords being established here until the latter half of the 19th century," he said Wednesday on the eve of Columbus Day in a humor-filled talk.

"On the other hand I found from Caribbean shores to Newfoundland coasts overwhelming evidence of the ruins of pizza foundries which go back to the latter half of the 15th century."

Chance for Praise

Musmanno, who rarely misses a chance to praise Columbus said, "I always worship at the shrine of truth and fairness. If I had found any evidence that the Vikings got here before Columbus, I would admit it."

"It has been asserted that Leif Ericson discovered America," Musmanno said, "but in the whole book of authentic history there is not one leif to establish that Ericson ever caught a glimpse of American shores.

"In fact, I know that Ericson never got here because I got it straight from the Norse's mouth."

A final proof that it was Columbus, Musmanno said, is the national popularity of spaghetti.

"This selection could never have been the result of whim or arbitrariness," he said. "The spaghetti represents the rigging of the ships of the 'Santa Maria,' the 'Nina' and the 'Pinta'."

"The meatballs are symbols of the anchors of those ships because the original anchors were spheroids so they could be used as cannon balls when it became necessary to fight the Vikings who, after all, were pirates!"

Postage Rates Would Increase

House Okays Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, while pressuring President Johnson to cut spending if he wants a tax hike, passed a federal pay raise bill which two key members say involves too much spending.

Postal rate increases would finance some of the raises.

The bill would give postal employes a 6 per cent raise and all other federal workers a 4.5 per cent pay hike. The President had recommended a 4.5 per cent raise for all civilian employes. Under the bill, there would be additional raises in the following two fiscal years.

Urged Rejection

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader; and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, urged rejection of the provision for second and third-year increases. But 166 Democrats and 45 Republicans combined against 64 Democrats and 135 Republicans to defeat the GOP-led move to strip this provision, 211 to 199.

The cost of the pay hike is estimated at $1.9 billion for next year, and $2.6 billion the following year.

The bill's postal rate increases affect all classes of service and include one-cent boosts on first class letters and two-cent jumps for air mail.

The bill passed by the House would increase postal rates eventually by $890 million annually, but congressional delay in passing the measure has cut substantially the fiscal 1968 benefit.

If the Senate acts in time to get the bill to the President by Dec. 1, and he signs it, the first-class and air-mail raises would take effect in January, along with the third-class hikes and the first stage of second-class increases. This would mean an additional $435 million in the current fiscal year, well under the $628.8 million cost of the pay bill this year.

Postage stamps would go to six cents for first class letters and five cents for post cards, while air-mail rates would go to 10 cents for letters and eight cents for post cards.

Second-class rates would go up 21 per cent over three years. But an amendment adopted Tuesday would add an extra surcharge to some 45 publications, including popular magazines, which each mail more than 500,000 copies.

Third-class rates would go from the present minimum of 2.875 cents to 3.8 cents, a 32 per cent hike.

The pay raise and rate measures, originally separate legislation, were combined by the House Post Office Committee to minimize a threat of presidential veto. But the chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., expressed hope the two proposals could be split again. However, he added that parliamentary considerations may force the Senate to agree to a combined measure.

Post Office officials told a House Appropriations subcommittee a drastic curtailment of mail service would result if the department's budget is cut by 5 per cent. The subcommittee is considering ways of reducing government spending by reconsidering appropriations already made.

The postal officials said such a cut would mean cancellation of Saturday mail deliveries, a reduction of city business deliveries to once daily and rural deliveries to three a week. Post office construction would be halted and about 1,000 small post offices would be closed, they added.

Cardinals Beat Red Sox, 7 to 2

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Gibson pitched and batted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox this afternoon in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series.

Gibson, who hit a home run in the fifth inning off losing pitcher Jim Lonborg, allowed just 3 hits and struck out 10 in pitching the complete game.

He was backed at the plate by Julian Javier, who slammed a three-run homer in the sixth inning. The victory was Gibson's third in the Series.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday that Army Pfc. Ronald S. Sandel of Thorp, Wis., has been killed in action in Vietnam.

British-Cypriot Airliner

All 66 Aboard Feared Lost as Jet Dives Into Mediterranean

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A British-Cypriot Comet jetliner crashed into the Mediterranean off the southwest coast of Turkey today and all 66 persons aboard are presumed killed, a spokesman for the British Royal Air Force announced.

Operated by British European Airways for Cyprus Airways, the Comet 4 jet was on a flight from London and Athens to Nicosia with 59 passengers and a crew of seven.

The plane left London Wednesday night and stopped briefly before dawn in Athens. It crashed into the sea about an hour later near the Dodecanese island of Kastellorizon, a spokesman for BEA said.

The RAF spokesman said an Air Force rescue launch and other ships were alongside wreckage of the plane and no survivors were found.

The ships began pulling bodies from the sea and picking up wreckage.

A spokesman for the airline said there was no indication yet of the cause of the crash.

A BEA spokesman in London said most of the passengers were businessmen or vacationers and that some children were aboard. The three-man flying crew was British and the two stewards and two stewardesses were Cypriots. The spokesman said 32 passengers boarded the plane at London and 27 in Athens.

It was the second crash in five months of a passenger plane bound for Cyprus. A chartered Swiss Britannia turbo-prop crashed in April as it was landing on the island in a thunderstorm, killing 126 persons. Most were German and British tourists.

The BEA spokesman said the Comet sent no distress signal before going down today. "It just disappeared," he said. The weather was reported clear at the time.

Air Force Alerted

Naval and passenger ships in the area were alerted and the U.S. Air Force base in Athens sent a plane to Katellorizon to join the search for survivors.

Five RAF planes were conducting the air search. An RAF spokesman said while the pilots spotted wreckage, they were not sure it was from the plane and no survivors were seen.

An RAF air-sea rescue launch was sent to the scene of the wreckage. One plane carried a para-medical team to drop into the sea if any survivors were found.

Pentagon's December Draft Call Set at 18,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today issued a call for the drafting of 18,200 men for the army on December.

The December call represented a drop of nearly 4,000 from November and was slightly higher than the October quota of 17,000.

The Pentagon said the men to be drafted in December will be inducted in the first half of the month "to avoid their entrance during the holiday season."

Reuther's Broad Smiles Start Rumors End of Strike Is Near

Major Breakthrough Possible By Tonight in UAW Walkout

DETROIT (AP) —A broadly smiling Walter P. Reuther rejoined new contract maneuvering at strikebound Ford Motor Co. today amidst reports that a major break in the 36-day-old strike was near.

Reuther waved to newsmen and chatted affably with his fellow United Auto Workers Union negotiators as he arrived at Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn.

The demeanor of the UAW president was that of a happy man —like that of a labor leader who had just won a sweetened contract offer from the company. It was in sharp contrast with his appearance the last few days when he had a stern, unsmiling countenance.

Reuther's cheerfulness led some observers to speculate that a strike-ending agreement might come as early as late today.

Reuther joined Ken Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, in a top-level bargaining strategy session. Indicating the importance of the meeting, a guard was posted at the door leading to the quarters in the Ford company building temporarily assigned to the union team.

There was no indication when the company and union bargainers would get together in joint session and both the company and union contingent maintained a news blackout.

Despite the blackout, veteran newsmen said there were indications that some movement had developed in negotiations and that the lineup of the nation's second largest auto firm might be nearing an end.

The strike, which has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states started Sept. 6 at expiration of a three-year contract and a two-month period of fruitless negotiations.

The company has made only one public response to broad union demands, offering an immediate 13-cent-an-hour wage boost plus an additional 2.8 per cent next year and the year after.

The union is seeking, in a contract that will set an industry pattern, what it calls the most ambitious list of demands it has ever made. It includes parity for Canadian workers, guaranteed annual income, a big wage boost, pension improvements and an extra wage boost for skilled workers.

No Dollar Value

Reuther has put no dollar value on the demands. But he has said 80 cents an hour over three years in both wages and fringe benefits would not be enough.

Auto workers now average $3.41 in straight time pay and $4.70 when pay and benefits are lumped together.

Reuther has said that this could be the longest strike in auto history, exceeding the record 118-day walkout at General Motors in 1945-46.

$2.5 Million Given to Marquette University

Men's Dormitory on Milwaukee Campus Named for Victor McCormick of Green Bay

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The largest single, private gift received by Marquette University, estimated at $2.5 million was presented Wednesday by Victor McCormick, an alumnus and Green Bay attorney.

In announcing the gift, the Very Rev. John P. Raynor, S. J., president of Marquette, said a new 12-story men's dormitory being built on the campus had been named Victor McCormick Hall.

University officials said the terms of the gift would not be made public.

McCormick, 68, received his law degree from Marquette in 1922. He is a former member of the university's board of governors and its athletic board. In 1945 he gave the school a large piece of land for use as a football practice field which was named in his honor.

Victor McCormick

Alumnus of Year

He was named Marquette's alumnus of the year in 1952 and was made an honorary member of the board of regents last year.

After graduation, McCormick returned to Green Bay to practice law. He was a partner in the firm of Minahan and McCormick when he retired in 1947 to devote full time to business interests.

He is a director of banks in Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Luxemburg and is a member of the lay advisory board of St. Norbert College in De Pere.

Government Rules on Her Race

White Girl a Shade Too Dark

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sandra Laing is the girl that no schools want.

Her parents won an 18-month-long struggle to have her officially declared white, only to discover they can't find a school that wants her.

Angry parents of Sheepmoor, a tiny town in eastern Transvaal Province, have threatened to remove their children from the local white primary school if 11-year-old Sandra is sent there as directed by the Education Department.

South African schools are strictly segregated along racial lines. Trouble occurs in borderline cases where a child is of dark appearance, as Sandra Laing is.

Sandra was going to boarding school in the country town of Piet Retief 18 months ago. Parents of other pupils objected to her presence, children taunted her and, eventually she was sent home by the school authorities.

Subsequently she was declared colored—that is, mulatto—by a government-appointed board, even though her parents are white. Then a change in the law provided that descent and not appearance is to be the deciding factor in borderline cases. She was reclassified white.

Feared Scorn

Sandra's storekeeper father, Abraham Laing, decided not to send her back to the same boarding school because of the scorn he felt she would meet.

He approached a number of convents, but they turned him down. Some said they had no vacancies, others said the Afrikaans-speaking girl would find the English-speaking situation in the convents difficult.

Then the Education Department notified Laing he must apply for Sandra to be admitted to the Sheepmoor school, the nearest their home.

Principal L. Dreyer said: "This is a terrible situation. I have my instructions from the Education Department to admit Sandra Laing. My hands are tied.

"However, I have reason to believe that, if this happens, most of the parents (of the 53 other children at the school) will remove their children."

Mrs. E. Van Tonder, mother of two pupils at the school and a member of the School Committee, commented: "The day Sandra Laing sets foot in the school, my children will be taken home. And they will stay home."

Abraham Laing doesn't know what to do about his daughter.

Johnson, Mills Widen Split Over Tax Increase

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deadlock now gripping President Johnson's tax increase bill is personified by two men who know each other extremely well, have shared many experiences and much responsibility —and don't give in easily

One is Johnson The other is Chairman Wilbur D Mills of the House Ways and eMans Committee

Until one budges the tax bill is going nowhere The narrow issue is Mills' insistence that Johnson provide convincing evidence that spending will be cut $5 billion to $10 billion—he has never set an exact figure— before Congress moves on taxes

This collides with Johnson's insistence that Congress first finish appropriating, then let the executive judge where to cut— and meanwhile that the tax increase must be approved

The underlying issues are broader Johnson, who developed his political philosophy in President Franklin D Roosevelt's New Deal, is determined that the massive programs he launched against poverty, for education and in welfare will survive the Vietnam-troubled times and endure to be his monument

Mills whose first job was to help keep a small town Arkansas bank afloat during the depression of the 1930s, leans markedly to the conservative side in fiscal matters But he is no blind Southern reactionary

He does not insist on a budget balanced every year He has carefully repeated over and over that he is not demanding that the welfare programs bear the brunt of the economies he advocates

Piloted '64 Bill

Mills accepted enough of the new economics to pilot to passage the tax reduction of 1964—despite an unbalanced budget He wrote into the bill a statement of principles As the economy grows and provides more government revenues, some should be spent but some should be returned to the private sector in continued tax reductions Encouragement to private business rather than government spending was to be the major guarantor of prosperity

The 1964 tax reduction is generally considered an economic smash success A sluggish economy took off and, though tax rates went down, tax revenue went up It is for this bill and for the principle he based it on and to which he constantly refers that Mills wants to be remembered

He feels he has been let down, that a commitment to hold down spending has gone by the board Vietnam, he insists, can be charged with only part of the responsibility for the huge deficit now threatening and demanding the tax increase that would reverse Mills' preferred course

Little Comunication

So the President and the congressman primarily responsible for tax legislation, two Washington veterans whose easy working arrangements were a byword have drawn apart Associates say there has been practically no direct communication between them since the tax message was sent to Congress Aug 3

Mills' indirect messages have been increasingly sharp The most cutting was his committee's recent shelving of the tax bill 'until such time as the President and the Congress reach an understanding' on spending cuts Mills says the action represents the overwhelming sentiment of the House—and he does not bring out of his committee bills the House won't pass

Children Weep as Pet Zoo Elephant Is Shot

PROVIDENCE, R I (AP) — A group of children, some crying, stood with their parents outside the elephant house Tuesday at Rogers Williams Park and heard the sound of four rifle shots

"Alice is dead, Alice is dead," cried one little boy as he hid his face in his mother's skirt

Alice, the park's 33-year-old elephant, was put to a mercy death by bullets from a police rifle She had been suffering from incurably absessed teeth and possible cancer.

She could not properly chew and digest her food, had lost 1,000 pounds in the past six months and had endured intense pain which made her potentially dangerous

Chances for Peace Dim, Saigon Feels

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The feeling in some high official circles here is that during the past 18 months the prospects have dimmed considerably for an early negotiated peace that would bar the Communists from eventually taking over South Vietnam.

Some of the key factors behind this belief are the hard-pressed allied military position in the northern provinces, what Hanoi believes is growing anti-war sentiment in America, and pressure from foreign governments for a halt in the air war against North Vietnam.

One senior allied source said: "Let's face it. If we negotiated today, at best we could expect half a melon It would have to be something like Laos."

Communist Gain

The 1962 Geneva accords brought Communists into the Laotian government and left the Communist field army intact together with a large North Vietnamese military force in the country U.S. troops were pulled out

Many diplomats believe the Communists have stopped short of a takeover in Laos in hopes of pushing the United States into a similar agreement in Vietnam.

It is generally accepted here that North Vietnam could easily force the allies into peace negotiations today with the anti-Communist side at a decided disadvantage. All Hanoi would have to do is agree to talk, American officials say. Why Hanoi has failed to do this is the subject of much debate and conjecture.

One argument is that Hanoi increasingly has fallen under the influence of pro-Peking hawks who are pressing for a clear military victory before negotiations. Another is that Hanoi believes it has been cheated in past negotiations and does not believe the United States would live up its side of any bargain

A third explanation offered by a senior U.S. diplomat is that the Communists may fear they cannot hold their organization together in the South for the long political pull after the frenzy and crisis atmosphere of war ends.

A senior American said Hanoi and Washington both face the same dilemma on another level—how to explain at home a pullout that could even vaguely be assailed as backing down after so much blood has been spent.

The U.S. Embassy is just as opposed to a halt in the bombing against the North as the American military command.

Officials see it this way: Besides allowing the North Vietnamese to reinforce and resupply their troops in the South easily, any halt would be interpreted as a sign of weakness and faltering will by Hanoi and probably many other Asian countries where face is important.

One compromise plan sometimes mentioned here is for a bombing halt with the clear threat to escalate the air war vastly if Hanoi refused to bargain in good faith.

Mindful of bitter allied experience during the Korean peace talks, the U.S. Embassy here once advised President Johnson to step up the pressure in North Vietnam at the first sign the Communists were prepared to talk

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, tries out one of the sniper rifles found Monday in a large cache of enemy weapons uncovered in tunnels under thick jungle 30 miles east of Saigon. The commander of the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 9th Division which discovered the arms said 200 new Russian sniper rifles were among 675 weapons found so far. (AP Wirephoto)

102 Killed Last Week

U.S. Lists Fewest Losses in 2 Months

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. casualties in the Vietnam war dropped last week while those of South Vietnamese government forces went up sharply. The number of enemy reported killed increased slightly over the previous week

The drop in American casualty figures resulted from a slackening of fighting along the demilitarized zone in the seven-day reporting period that ended at midnight last Saturday. Although Communist gunners are continuing to pound U.S. Marine positions along the DMZ, the intensity of firepower last week was far below that of previous weeks.

The U.S. Command said 102 Americans were killed in action last week, 890 were wounded and 26 were missing or captured, as compared with 150 killed, 1,758 wounded and three missing a week earlier

The U.S. death toll last week was the lowest in two months, since the week of Aug. 12 when 87 Americans were killed in action.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were put at 254 killed, 687 wounded and 52 missing, a marked increase over the previous week when Vietnamese military headquarters reported 114 men killed, 461 wounded and five missing.

The total enemy killed last week was 1,331, the U.S. Command said, up from a readjusted figure of 1,100 the week before

In a new addition to its weekly casualty summary, the U.S. Command gave a breakdown on the American wounded. It said 434 required hospital care while 456 were not hospitalized Giving cumulative totals for Americans wounded in the war, it said 46,067 required hospitalization while 41,458 did not Casualty figures for other allied forces were 19 killed, 21 wounded and none missing or captured last week A week earlier, these totals were 33 killed, 53 wounded and none missing or captured.

The weekly summary put U.S. military strength in South Vietnam at the end of last week at 459,000, a drop of 1,000 from the 460,000 listed a week earlier.

Other foreign allied troop strength remained at 59,000.

The estimate of enemy forces in South Vietnam also was the same, 297,000.

Texas A&M Becoming More Coeducational

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University, an all-male school for almost a century, is becoming more coeducational by the year.

This year's record enrollment is 12,029, which includes a record 770 women. The fair sex was represented by 578 enrollees last year.

The dating situation for those thousands of campus males is not that much improved, however, since 484 of the 1967 women students are married

Canadian staff members are in both North and South Vietnam, theoretically to control observance of the 1954 Geneva agreements

The spokesman also indicated that the letter might be delivered via the press by releasing it to news media for Hanoi to learn of it that way. But it more probably will go by diplomatic channels, he said.

U.S officials were unaware of Thieu's plans to write to Ho and it is known that many of them, especially on the military side, are not too happy about the possibility of a bombing pause. Hanoi took advantage of pauses in the past to increase movement of men and supplies south, they say. They also feel a pause might be taken as an indication of allied weakness.

However, most observers think that Hanoi will reject Saigon's offer of a bombing pause since the North Vietnamese seem convinced that political events in the United States, and especially the 1968 presidential election, will have a greater effect on American participation in the war than events in Vietnam

Most of the homes were unoccupied including those of Powell and Douglas, officers reported The losses were not itemized as yet.

Rights Slayings Trial

Klansman Testifies To Elimination Plot

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department has summoned more Ku Klux Klansmen to testify in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers, described by a Meridian police sergeant as part of a Klan "elimination" lot.

The policeman testified Wednesday before a U.S. District Court jury along with FBI agents and physicians.

Paid Informer

Miller, a former Klan member, testified he received $2,400 over a two-year period from the FBI to provide information on the slayings.

The bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, were found buried in an earthen dam on Aug. 4, 1964 after 44 days of intensive searching.

Additional testimony is expected from James Edward Jordan who was whisked into the courthouse Wednesday surrounded by armed guards. Jordan is under indictment in the case, but jurisdiction has been transferred to a federal court district in Georgia.

Door Examination

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Doar, the Justice Department's chief civil rights trouble shooter, personally handled the examination of Miller as the stocky policeman told his story calmly.

Miller said he joined the Klan when Edgar Ray "Preacher" Killen, one of the defendants, approached him in late March or early April of 1964.

The target of the Klan group was Schwerner, a bearded civil rights organizer who had been active in the Neshoba County area, Miller said.

He said some of the members wanted to "whip" Schwerner.

The master builder of the V-8's introduces the fourth great V-8 engine design in motoring history.

Automotive critics are highly enthusiastic about the 1968 Cadillacs equipped with the totally new 472 V-8 engine.

The largest, smoothest engine ever put into a production passenger car, its quiet operation is remarkable, its response in traffic surprising and its stamina on the turnpike truly amazing! Its torque, or usable power, surpasses that of any other passenger car engine.

This unmatched combination of performance and smoothness is in no way compromised by the operation of Cadillac's usual conveniences.

The debut of the new 472 V-8 engine marks the fourth time Cadillac has led the industry with a major V-8 engine development. The first time was in 1914, when the first production V-8 was lowered onto a Cadillac chassis.

Each of the 11 new 1968 Cadillacs has the new 472 V-8. Test drive one soon—and enjoy a truly exciting discovery.

Jury Awards $50,000 to Van Daalwyk

County Buys Land From Company for New Airport Site

A 12-member Circuit Court jury, following only one hour of deliberation Wednesday afternoon, awarded the Van Daalwyk Land Co., Inc., route 3, Kaukauna, $50,000 for 118 acres of land taken by Outagamie County for airport construction in 1963.

The case, against the county, went to Circuit Court when the Kaukauna-based firm appealed a $51,000 award in Nov. 1965 by the county condemnation commission. The Circuit Court jury, which heard two days of testimony, ruled that the fair market value of the Van Daalwyk property, in the Town of Greenville, was $50,000 as of Sept. 27. The value set by the jury included all improvements on the land.

A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel, who defended for the county, said the land was condemned by the county in March 1963 for building of the new airport. At that time, the land firm was awarded $45,000 for the 118 acres.

The Van Daalwyk firm bought the land in 1960. Court records show that Joseph Van Daalwyk is president of the land firm, and Marcella Van Daalwyk is secretary.

Jurors hearing the case, before Judge Andrew W. Parnell included Mrs. Virginia Caldie, 1223 W. Summer St., Werner Stranghoener, 1406 E. Byrd St., Mrs. Walter Van Mun, 1130 W. Glendale Ave., Marjorie Cotton, 2324 N. Clark St., and Thomas P. Neuman, 336 E. Pershing St., all of Appleton.

Other jurors were Mrs. Rose Kreul, and Carl Brandt, both of Hortonville, Mrs. Robert Rahn, 1115 E. Main St., Mrs. L. N. Schommer, 404 W. Lincoln St., and George J. Vanderloop Sr., 127 E. Main St., all of Little Chute, and Mrs. Marie Taylor, 421 Dixon St., Kaukauna.

Appleton Teen Denies Road Violation Charge

William Ahl, 17, 1831 N. Morrison St., pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge of driving after his license was revoked.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for Nov. 10 and set bond at $150. State police arrested Ahl the evening of Oct. 8 on U.S. 41, near State 47.

Youths Admit Involvement in 10 Burglaries

Two-County Spree Reported During September, October

Four Appleton youths, ages 15 through 17, are in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County jail following interrogation Wednesday which revealed they were involved in 10 burglaries in Outagamie and Winnebago counties.

As of noon Wednesday, two youths were being held in connection with five burglaries. However, this morning, the number of suspects climbed to four and the number of burglaries to 10. Police said not all of the youths were involved in each of the burglaries.

Lt. Jack Zuelzke, Outagamie County sheriff's investigator, who helped question the youths, gave The Post-Crescent a rundown of the burglaries, all of which occurred late in September and early this month.

Pro Shop Entered

Two youths entered the pro shop at Butte des Morts Golf Club Oct. 3 and stole two sweaters valued at $47. Portions of the building were ransacked. About $225 in merchandise, most of it grocery items, were stolen or destroyed by two youths who broke into the Florida Fruit Ranch, 2703 N.

Council Votes to Buy Airport for $413,100

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

At a special meeting Wednesday night the Appleton common council took action to close the city's tax-base gap by authorizing purchase of the old county airport property for $413,100 to develop a new industrial park.

Earlier in the day an offer to sell the 153 acres, located in the city limits east of Ballard Road, had been made by two committees representing the Outagamie County Board.

Aldermen debated the proposed purchase for a half hour before voting favorably 14-2, with four aldermen absent.

Up to County

With the city indicating its willingness to assume control of the property on a 10-year land contract, the industrial development future of the city and county now lies in the hands of the 47-member county board which will meet Oct. 17 to approve or reject sales terms.

It has been estimated that cost of installing necessary utilities to permit development of the property range from $750,000 to $1 million.

Originally, the city wanted to purchase the land on a parcel basis as the demand for industrial sites arose, but county officials said the 153 acres should be sold in one package.

Question Haste

However, all was not wine and roses as some aldermen questioned the haste to consummate a purchase, and a review of the city's new-industry box score over the years showed it has struck out for about a quarter of a century.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) wanted to know why the city was being to forced to buy all the airport.

"Any new industry or local expansion helps the county as well as the city," Thompson declared, "Why saddle Appleton with all the land and expense?"

Ald. William Errington (15th), said he was not opposed to an industrial park, providing a good buffer zone could be established for residential developments.

Budget Up

Errington said the need for expanding the city's tax base was obvious, citing that education budget requests alone call for a $7 increase in the tax rate next year.

He agreed the time had come for Appleton to obtain new industry rather than rely on local firms to expand, commenting, "Local industries may be expanding and putting up new plants but the work force is also decreased."

The council was told by Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), a member of the commerce-industry development committee, that two local firms were definitely interested in building plants at the old airport and others made inquiries.

Closed Door

"Looking back over the years, there was a time when the council said 'no' to an industry and from that date the field of industrial development has had a closed door," Kalata declared. "We have a chance to get that door open again."

Kalata cited Green Bay has a municipal agency with a paid director working full-time on obtaining new industry.

He also told the council the city was hurting when Fox

Outagamie Offer

Board Okays Land Purchase

Faced with the need for a crash program to get more industrial development in Appleton, the board of public works met Wednesday afternoon and recommended purchase of 153 acres of old airport property.

The special meeting was called by Mayor George Buckley after city officials met earlier in the day with representatives of Outagamie County and arrived at tentative agreement on terms.

Lose Direction

"When you start forgetting about council rules and begin expediting, you lose all sense of direction," Errington added. "It's about high time we put a stop to this merry-go-round and give the little guy his dollar's worth."

However, Errington said later he was happy county officials were ready to start dealing with the city.

The terms offered the city by the county board's executive committee and property and insurance committee was a 10-year land contract to purchase the 153 acres at $2,700 per acre, and 4 per cent interest on the annual unpaid balance.

The land acquisition committee had declined to make a recommendation on the county's offer and asked it be referred to the public works board, and the city council.

Ald. Roy Pomter (14th) made the motion to buy the airport, subject to approval of the council and county board.

Urge Acceptance

Gus A. Zuehlke, chairman of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce industrial development division, urged the city to accept the county's offer as a fair one.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), chairman of the council's finance committee, expressed hope the city and county could get along better than in the past and felt acquisition of the airport property was needed to get new industry into Appleton.

"We have problems," Tews said. "The homeowner is at a point where he can't afford to pay the high taxes."

Need Action

Ald. John Ayers (12th), council president, warned that time was running out on the city, and said "We had to act fast to get something before the county board at its next meeting," Ayers said.

Mayor Buckley said he agreed the purchase had to be expedited.

Calumet Bar Told

Tri-County Merger Bill Not Likely to Leave Committee

CHILTON — The controversial tri-county merger bill probably will be held in committee indefinitely and will not be scheduled for hearing during this fall's term of the state legislature according to Assemblyman Bernard Lewison (R-Viroqua), chairman of the State Affairs Committee.

His opinion was expressed in a letter to Robert Lutz, Chilton, president of the Calumet County Bar Association.

Organize Opposition

After the initial shock of the proposal wore off, organized opposition to the bill developed in all three counties with the strongest coming from Calumet County where the various Chambers of Commerce and Businessmen's Associations banded together to fight the plan.

Martin, in a talk before the Neenah-Menasha Optimist Club this week, admitted introduction of the bill was "somewhat precipitous." However, he predicted the bill would be considered by the legislature in 1969.

He said that given the chance to do it over again they probably would have conducted discussions with citizen groups and public officials before introducing the proposed legislation.

Study Sidetracked

Martin added that the amount of "emotion" prompted by the bill came unexpectedly upon himself and Froehlich. As a result, he said, "We are busy defending the introduction of the bill and are getting sidetracked from studying the merits of the proposal and from delving into solutions for local government problems."

Lutz, in response to Lewison's letter, said "we are pleased that apparently some members of the assembly appreciate the lack of validity of bill 1023 and will put it where it belongs — to sleep."

However, he added, "It is unfortunate the proposal was ever introduced, and once being introduced, could not meet the fate it so richly deserves — to be soundly defeated on the floor of the assembly."

Beginning January 1

Appleton Apostolate to Phase Out Foster Plan

A phasing out of its foster home program has been announced by the Appleton Apostolate with the children and foster homes under the care of the Apostolate being transferred to the county Social Services Department.

The change in program affects all Apostolates in the Green Bay Diocese. The phasing out of the program will start Jan. 1 and is expected to be completed by Jan. 1, 1969. Preadoptive and unmarried mother foster home services will continue and be intensified, according to the Rev. Peter Klauck, director of the Green Bay Diocese Apostolate, Inc.

As a result of the planned change, the Outagamie County Social Services Department is requesting two additional case workers in its 1968 budget to serve those areas being dropped by the Apostolate.

The number of children and foster homes under the supervision of the Appleton Apostolate offfice was unavailable today. The Rev. Donald Burkart, director of the Appleton Apostolate, was out of the city.

In a prepared statement, Father Klauck said, "The past two years has seen an increase in the number of requests for assistance in all areas of Apostolate services. The agency found it necessary to review its programs and to focus, within its financial resources, on those areas of greatest need.

"The Apostolate will intensify its services to the unmarried parent and its program for adoptive couples. Individual and family counseling will receive more attention to deter family breakup and the necessity of placing children in foster homes. The phase out of the foster home program will allow the agency to pursue the above goals."

Father Klauck said personnel from the Apostolate would continue to cooperate with county social services departments in foster home recruitment.

Towns Want Local Assessor

Group Opposes Bill For District Plan, Favors Local Reforms

LAKE DELTON — The Wisconsin Towns Association took a strong stand against a bill calling for district-wide assessing, but agreed local assessing policies needed reform.

In the final session of the Association's 20th Annual Convention Wednesday, the group went on record against eliminating the local assessor.

However, one point in Senate Bill No. 42, which proposes area assessors, was accepted in part.

The group favored bringing up the assessments to at least 90 per cent of full value and Ben Hanneman executive secretary of the Association, felt the ratio should be nearly 100 per cent.

Favor Uniformity

The members also voted in favor of a uniform assessment of all properties, whether residential, commercial or agricultural.

A suggestion to change the May 1 date of record for assessments to Jan. 1 met with opposition, mainly from town representatives in the resort areas, who pointed to difficulties in visiting the properties during the winter months when the resorts are closed.

In other action Wednesday, the Association supported a resolution submitted by the Town of Spirit in Price County to have the State Highway Commission notify town boards when highway aids are reduced. received the backing of the Association in restoring bounties paid for foxes, coyotes and timber wolves.

Towns Oppose County Mergers

LAKE DELTON — The Wisconsin Towns Association added its voice in opposition to any proposals to consolidate towns and counties.

The action was taken at the final session of the group's 20th Annual Convention Wednesday.

The move blocked Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette's suggestion Tuesday that smaller townships consolidate and, by inference, it opposed the tri-county merger proposed by Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, and David Martin, R-Neenah.

Cost Estimated at $2,026,950 For 17 Recommended Projects

Recommendations from Ralph H. Burke Associates, airport consultants for Outagamie County, would give the county, if accepted, two runways, one 6,000 feet long and the other 7,000 feet, with accompanying taxiways, a new terminal building, fire station, perimeter fencing, an additional apron area and automobile parking space.

Cost estimates to do all the work and complete the project are $2,026,950. This includes two projects which have been approved for federal and state aid but the grants have not been deducted from the total cost estimates.

Recommended taxiway work would cost an estimated $842,000. This would include 1,500 feet to complete the taxiway for the new runway now under construction, 1,590 feet of taxiway for the proposed addition to the new runway, and 6,000 feet of taxiway for the existing runway and the proposed addition to that runway.

Runway Construction

Proposed runway construction would cost an estimated $501,750. This includes a total of 1,800 feet to be added to the southwest end of the new runway and 800 feet to the southeast end of the existing runway.

Other recommended items include $200,000 for a terminal building, $35,000 for a building to house the airport fire truck, $67,000 for fencing around the property, $62,000 for additional automobile parking and roadways, $89,100 for apron space for future fixed base operators, $121,000 for aprons for future additional T-hangars, $89,100 for apron space for corporation hangars, and $20,000 for easements.

Airport Committee members have indicated they will probably seek to have the runway and taxiway work done as soon as possible and complete other projects on a need basis. Some of the items probably would be deferred a number of years.

Station Possibility

Committee members indicated they would explore the possibility of using the present terminal building for a fire station if another terminal is constructed.

A total of $173,800 in federal and state grants has been approved and county officials are hopeful other federal aids will be made available. Of the 17 items outlined in the recommendations, only three, the apron for corporate aircraft, automobile parking and the terminal, are definitely ineligible for federal aid.

On the remaining items there is the possibility of federal assistance of up to 50 per cent of the cost. In addition, on projects eligible for federal aid, state aid of either $30,000 or $35,000 is also possible.

Actors' Talents Fight Cancer

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Movie and television star Robert Carson, "triggered" by the "needless" death of his wife 11 years ago and brother, Jack, four years ago, both victims of cancer, has volunteered his talents and time to direct the attack against ignorance and fear, which have made the disease a major killer.

This, the Minneapolis native said at a press conference here Wednesday, was his reason for deep involvement in the fight against the disease which kills more than three times as many Americans annually as have been wounded and killed the past five years and eight months in Vietnam.

Carson and actor William Gargon, speaker at the state American Cancer Society's annual meeting in Oshkosh, both have used their talents, since their intimate experiences with cancer, for the educative program.

Explains Ignorance

Carson, who appeared in "The Great Race", "How to Murder Your Wife" and other movies, said his and his late wife's ignorance of cancer had allowed the disease to "get too much of a start" in her. She died 32 months after a Pap test, "something I had never heard of or was concerned with," showed the disease.

Gargon's theatrical career had been interrupted about seven years ago when doctors learned his sore throat was larynx cancer. Using esophageal speech Wednesday night, Gargon called himself the "luckiest guy" in the world because his bout with cancer had introduced him to the dedicated men and women of the American Cancer Society.

He recounted his first reaction to the cancer, as an actor, "Why my voice, God? Why me?"

Questions God

But he said in his hoarse voice, after he had learned to speak again, "Why not me, God?"

"And I have been living that way ever since," he added.

The tall gray-haired Carson, scheduled to speak at the luncheon today, echoed the sentiment. At the afternoon conference he recounted the "two greatest thrills of my life."

The first involved a woman in Norfolk, Va., who listened to Carson urge his audience to get a check-up, including the Pap test, which this woman had known nothing about.

After the speech, she told him she planned to have a Pap test.

"Seven months later I received a letter indicating that the test showed pre-evasive cancer (early stage), and the test probably saved the woman's life," he said.

His second thrill came when

Firm Erecting New Building

Automotive Supply Plans Structure for Warehouse, Office

Construction has started on a new $155,000 warehouse-office building for Automotive Supply Co., Inc., at 123 S. Lindwood Avenue.

The permit for the project, which will eventually result in the firm moving from its present location at 300 N. Appleton St. was issued earlier in the week by Building Inspector Richard Atkins.

Constructed of masonry and steel, the complex will have 326,100 square feet of floor space, including basement.

Target Date

Target date for completion of the building, which will be 180 by 168 feet and 22 feet high, is the spring of 1968.

The building is being erected in an area zoned for heavy industrial purposes, the property having been acquired sometime ago by Automotive for future expansion.

Its present quarters at the northeast corner of Appleton and Franklin Streets are cramped

Pressure Rebuilding South of DMZ as Reds Move SAMs

Long-Range, Soviet-Built Guns Used on Marines at Con Thien

SAIGON (AP) — The shell-scarred Marine fortress of Con Thien shook with the explosions of nearby heavy B52 raids today as Communist pressure just below the demilitarized zone appeared to be building up again.

U.S. Command also reported that American bombers had hit a Communist missile van a few miles above the zone—an indication that the North Vietnamese are again attempting to bring down the big Russian-built SAM missiles to combat the high-altitude B52s

In the past two days Red gunners, some of them using long-range Russian guns firing from 15 miles above Con Thien, have harassed the Marine outposts just below the zone with 128 shells which wounded 30 Leathernecks

Battle Not Over

Although this was only a small fraction of the 1,000 shells a day hurled over by the Reds during last month's fierce exchanges of fire. American commanders aer openly fearful that the battle along the 17th parallel is far from over.

In the darkness Wednesday night and early Thursday the B52 bombers laid down 300,000 pounds of bombs barely two miles from Con Thien—as close as the big bombers dare come to their own troops. These strikes were preceded by a raid nine miles up the road where bigger Red guns and troop concentrations possibly are located.

Other B52 raids have been going in about 15 miles to the southwest where Communist infiltrators threaten to outflank the Marine line just below the DMZ and strike at the central area of Quang Tri Province and the provincial capital.

Marine tactical jets have also been working over this area daily as well as hitting the Red positions just above the DMZ.

Scattered Action

While the focus was on the threatened northern provinces, scattered actions were reported elsewhere, and American soldiers turned up more underground armories in the Saigon area.

The air war over North Vietnam was again sharply limited by bad weather.

Infantrymen patrolling 38 miles northwest of Saigon found stores of small weapons while 30 miles east of Saigon they turned up more tunnels in a complex that has already disgorged a small mountain of weapons.

About six major tunnel areas have been found in the jungled foothills east of the capital, and some 1,000 weapons counted. Infantrymen probing the tunnels with lights and sometimes with oxygen marks reported locating about 4,000 pounds of medical supplies today. The search was continuing, with officers confident more would be discovered in the area, which was evidently a major guerrilla headquarters

Air War Raging

Triple-Duty Tours Foreseen For Vietnam Combat Pilots

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Navy pilots may have to serve as many as three combat tours in the Vietnam war, sources say.

They forecast this possibility if the air war against North Vietnam continues unabated for the next 14 to 18 months.

The problem stems from a tight supply of pilots—a problem aggravated by a growing tendency of younger fliers to resign from the service after they have fulfilled their obligations.

Congress has been told that lengthy and repeated family separations resulting from increased naval operations have accelerated the trend.

Shortage Denied

The Pentagon's civilian leadership steadfastly denies there is any pilot shortage, but this is disputed by the Senate preparedness subcommittee and service sources.

The Air Force and the Army also are feeling the pinch.

Gen John P McConnell, Air Force Chief of Staff, warned a group of officers' wives recently that their husbands may have to return to Vietnam for second tours by the end of 1969.

The Air Force has tried to hold to a policy of limiting a pilot to a single tour of 100 missions against North Vietnam, where air defenses are becoming tougher, or one year in South Vietnam, where ground fire is negligible

Helicopter Pilots

The Army attempts to give a man two years away from Vietnam before sending him back for a second tour But it has had to return some helicopter pilots sooner than that

In the case of the Navy, pilots operating aboard carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin normally spend about seven to nine months with their ship on station before being rotated out of the war zone.

This has meant, generally, that Navy carrier pilots have flown 100 or so missions during this time.

A second tour of seven to nine months has not been uncommon for Navy carrier pilots, and now the sources raise the prospect of a third tour.

Early Resignations

A spokesman for the Navy told congressional appropriations committees earlier this year. "The acute shortage of middle grade surface officers and junior pilots is a result of declining retention "

"The majority of losses occur at or shortly after completion of obligated service in the grade of lieutenant," he said

Navy spokesmen also blame the outflow of younger pilots on the growth of the airline industry which, they said, has raised a demand for commercial pilots who are paid considerably more than fighting fliers

Subversive Control Board

Kennedy-Proxmire Stand Unlikely to Stop Dirksen Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen apparently will win his fight to keep alive the Subversive Activities Control Board despite one setback.

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a former attorney general, and William Proxmire, D-Wis., are among opponents of Dirksen's bill who maintain the Justice Department can do a better job than the board of detecting Communists and other subversives working in this country.

Controversy over the board flared earlier this year after President Johnson appointed Simon F. McHugh, a 29-year-old accountant who had married a Johnson secretary, as a board member at $26,000 a year.

Left Powerless

Proxmire put in a bill to abolish the board, saying it had been left with nothing to do because of court rulings holding that organizations identified by the board as Communist could not be required to register with the Justice Department.

Proxmire conceded Wednesday it would be "very, very hard" to prevent Senate passage of Dirksen's bill

Dirksen tried without success Wednesday to hook his bill onto a routine appropriation measure.

This required suspension of a rule against legislation in an appropriation bill. The vote on Dirksen's motion to suspend the rule was 47 for and 38 against, or 10 short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

While the motion failed, it clearly showed a majority in favor of Dirksen's bill, which may be voted on next week.

The Senate also defeated, 57 to 34, an amendment to eliminate $295,000 for the board's operation in the current fiscal year.

Dirksen told the Senate the President wants the bill passed and maintained the board could serve a useful purpose by publicly exposing Communist groups.

The courts ruled that the registration requirement of the 1950 Internal Security Act, which created the board, violated the 5th Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination.

Dirksen's bill, tailored to the court rulings, drops the registration requirement but would have the board continue to conduct hearings on complaints filed by the attorney general and to identify organizations it found to be Communist groups.

Dynamite Blast Hits Trucker

Violence Follows By Hours Rejection Of Proposed Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A dynamite blast convulsed a trucking firm planning to resume steel shipments today, only hours after parties to a proposed settlement of the two-month strike by steel haulers began bickering.

A member of the National Steel Carriers Association said Wednesday night his group will reject the peace pact drafted Tuesday with the help of a seven-state mediation panel

And a rival group of trucking companies said they want to change a key element in the proposed settlement.

Police said the dynamite blast caused $2,000 damage to the Aetna Freight Line in Middletown, Ohio. No one was hurt.

Firm Manager Rome Lindeman said the trucks were to roll for the first time in four weeks today, "but I gues these will be held up for awhile now."

The National Steel Carriers member—Walter Mantho—told the Detroit Free Press the proposed settlement "is not worth the paper it's written on."

"There are many points in the agreement that just cannot be arrived at legally," he said. "We will meet Friday to make a decision, but I'm sure it will not be accepted."

Strike leaders said they were satisfied with the proposal hammered out in two days of meetings and would return to the highways under its terms—if approved by the carriers

Mantho said, "The strikers will have to come to work under the present contract."

Rockettes To Return to Music Hall

Dancers Settle 27-Day Dispute; Terms Undisclosed

NEW YORK (AP) — Radio City Music Hall and its striking Rockettes and other state performers have reached a general settlement of their contract dispute, State Mediation Board Chairman Vincent D McDonnell announced today

The precision-dancing Rockettes, the members of the corps de ballet and singers will be back on stage Friday, McDonnell said.

He declined to make public the terms of the agreement, which he announced shortly before dawn after an 18-hour mediation session.

Girl Watchers

Their picketing has been a big midtown Manhattan attraction for girl-watchers.

McDonnell said settlement was reached by negotiating committees headed by Penny Singleton, vice president of the AFL-CIO American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA), and James Gould, president of the Music Hall.

He said both sides accepted his recommendation that all issue, still unsettled be submitted to Theodore W. Kheel, nationally known labor mediator and arbitrator, for final and binding arbitration.

Help in Civil Disorders

Mutual Aid Pact Found For Illinois, Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The existence of a mutual aid agreement between Wisconsin and Illinois to cope with civil disorders was disclosed Wednesday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The Milwaukee Sentinel said in an interview Knowles stated Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner had asked for such an agreement After legal research, Knowles replied that an agreement made between the two states for other purposes could be used for such matters as the use of National Guardsmen in civil disorders

In the interview Knowles also said there was no need to strengthen Wisconsin's open housing law and that his office was working on legislation to insure that open housing ordinances could be enacted locally

Knowles said the Illinois governor came without publicity to Wisconsin some weeks ago to meet with him on development of a National Guard mutual aid pact for civil disorders After the session, Knowles added, his legal counsel, Arvid Sather, found such an agreement had been provided for many years ago but had been dormant.

Knowles said the matter of mutual aid had been discussed since Chicago's snow emergency last winter when Wisconsin and Iowa sent equipment and workers without assurance of pay or workmen's compensation for the men.

Since then the National Governors Conference has established a committee, of which Knowles is a member, to study the question of mutual aid The conference meets in the Virgin Islands next week.

Legislators' Session

Knowles said it is unlikely that any major accomplishments will be noted in the first week or two of the legislature which reconvenes Tuesday "This isn't my session," he said. "I presented my program to the legislature early in the year This session is primarily for action on bills which the legislators themselves feel are important."

Knowles said it's not likely the legislature will okay any significant new spending, adding, "there isn't any money."

He said the state open housing law has been in effect only for about two years and "I don't see any particular real need for changing it. We have developed the equal opportunities section and have had only 35 complaints."

Towns Want to Keep Utility Tax Rebates

LAKE DELTON — Utility taxes returned to the communities should remain there, the Wisconsin Towns Association declared Wednesday.

The group amended a resolution so all counties, regardless of population, would not have to share utility rebates with school districts.

The present law calls for counties with less than 50,000 population to send out 50 per cent of the utility taxes received in a town to the school district.

Robert Jacobs, clerk of the Town of Menasha, pointed to bookkeeping problems involved in the Appleton school district, which includes part of Calumet County.

He received unanimous support when he asked that the utility money remain in the municipality "and let the schools answer to the people where they can get additional money."

The association was urged to introduce legislation eliminating all shared taxes with school districts and deleting the statute dealing with utility tax apportionment.

One resolution calling for greater state aids for education to help ease the burden of the property tax, was tabled after Roland Kampo, chairman of the Town of Menasha, questioned where the money was going to come from.

The move called for the legislature to "substantially increase" school aids "by taking the necessary means."

Several townsmen joined with Kampo in denouncing the resolution which failed "to provide ideas or solutions" to draw the needed funds.

Jobs Mean Negro 'Green Power'

NEENAH — James Milsap is trying to reach the unreachables in the Milwaukee core. He's not using black power or white power. He's trying green power — in the form of paying jobs.

Milsap is the head of a self-help program called Opportunities Industrialization Center, referred to as OIC. Members of OIC walk the streets of "no man's land" in the core areas to seek out and recruit those people who have been passed over in 20th century America.

This young Negro leader told a meeting of the Fox Valley Republicans and Fox Valley Human Rights Council members Wednesday night he believes no man to be unreachable.

Core Dweller

The aim of OIC is to give the disenfranchised core dwellers the skills he needs to get and hold a job.

"The name of the game as far as the OIC is concerned is jobs," Milsap said.

This organization, which was started last March in Milwaukee's core, takes the society drop-outs and introduces them into a "feeder program" of training

They start from the bottom up, often in a one-to-one relationship between the student and the teacher. First comes learning personal hygiene — to take baths and use deodorant, if necessary.

Then comes learning "communication arts" (reading and writing) and 'computational skills" (arithmetic). Also taught are family relations, consumer skills, and perhaps how to eat.

Most important they earn job skills, like welding, secretarial skills or the electrician's trade.

Graduation, which takes as long as it takes, but usually 7 to 50 weeks, comes when the man gets a paying job. His diploma is a pay check

Along the way the man's motivation and confidence are built, step by step.

"If he gets even a whiff of failure, it's over," Wright Colbert, a staff member of OIC in Milwaukee who accompanied Milsap, said. "We're not in the business to frustrate people." This means avoidance of a competitive situation while the training is going on.

So far the Milwaukee program has had no drop-outs, Milsap said. There have been two graduates since the project started six months ago.

Started in 1964

The OIC movement was started in Philadelphia in 1964 by a Negro Baptist preacher, Dr. Leon Sullivan, and has spread to 67 communities.

The Philadelphia program has graduated 3,000 core residents into job-holding, taxpaying graduates, Milsap said, with some 600 currently enrolled and 9,000 on the waiting list.

The schools are supported by government funds, contributions and industry. Milsap offers industry and the community a skilled worker for $1,000.

The Philadelphia program, for example, is 80 per cent government supported and 20 per cent industry.

State Funds

Milsap has already received $100,000 from the State of Wisconsin.

Neenah Assemblyman David Martin, who invited Milsap, told the group of some 50 persons at the Neenah Presbyterian Church that the Republican Party is "unequivocably" behind the OIC program, including the governor and the legislative leaders.

The money is used to pay the instructors. "We don't need do-gooders," Milsap said, referring to possible teacher volunteers for the job training. Students attend tuition free, and, if needed, are provided with a stop-gap job at a place like a filling station.

Close Contact

During the training program, extremely close contact is maintained between the student and the teachers as the "unreachable" is nurtured into a skilled man.

Once the skills have been developed, OIC helps the trainee find a job. Agreements have been made with some industries on quotas for the newly skilled workers.

Milsap skirted a question about apprentice status in unions, many of which are known for membership discrimination. He said he had been in "close contact" with union officials. And when it came time to cross that bridge, he said he would just present the unions with ten men trained, say, as welders. "I won't be kidding. I'll have ten"

What happens then he didn't say.

The Milwaukee chapter of OIC now has 125 students, with 10 more coming in every day, Milsap said. The first students were recruited last summer when the organizers of the chapter walked the streets of the core in sweatshirts to find men who could relate both ways, upward to a good job and back into the core. Once these first men were trained, they were sent back to the core to recruit more.

The school has its own building and Milsap sees a maximum program of 1,000 students. More would ruin the effectiveness of the "close contact" program, he said

Juvenile Detention Facilities Not Needed in Winnebago

OSHKOSH —A juvenile detention home for Winnebago County is not required now, said Robert Cassidy, regional consultant for the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, Wednesday.

The county's judiciary committee called the Wednesday evening public meeting to dig into possibilities of a new detention home and to discuss means of lessening the workload on the three county judges.

The present population of the county, Cassidy explained, would not financially support a detention home staffed by responsible adults on a 24-hour basis, including education, recreational personnel, casework diagnosticians and other services.

What the county needs now, said Cassidy, is a full-time trained person to screen court referrals This person could lessen the detention rate by one half, he said.

The county should work in conjunction with the Department of Social Services to provide this screening, he said.

Not the Type

Many of the juveniles taken in are not the type that require confinement with personal controls by adults, he said.

Not more than 20 per cent of the referrals to juvenile court need this kind of confinement, he said. About two-thurds of the referrals in one year are ultimately released to the community

Nursing Home Administrator

Kaukauna Nun Gets National Post

KAUKAUNA — Sister M. Ambrosette, administrator at St. Paul Home, Inc., since 1959, was named president-elect of the American College of Nursing Home Administrators at the national convention at Denver last week.

She will assume duties as president in the fall of 1968, this will place her second in authority on the executive board of the association.

The organization has about 1,500 members with nearly 1,000 represented at the convention It is composed of an executive office and regional governors and rates administrators as associate members, members and fellows, according to their professional qualifications.

Sister Ambrosette was named a fellow in the American College in January, 1965 Other offices held by the nun include vice president and a member of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Association of Nursing Homes, various district offices in the state, a member of the accreditation committee of the American Nursing Homes Association and a member of the Ad Hoc committee piloting new programs with the association.

Purpose of the association is "dedication to education and professionalism for better patient care in nursing homes," Sister Ambrosette said. The national group establishes standards and policies, initiates programs of continuing education for administrators and assumes a leadership role in speaking for nursing homes in government programs, in setting standards of care, and meeting society's demand in geriatrics.

The 3-day convention was devoted to setting goals in training nursing home administrators and to developing trends toward true professionalism in this particular health care field, she said. Five speakers were heard on various professional fields, followed with workshops on the topics covered.

This was followed by a review of discussion workshops by Dr Donovan J Perkins, Fullerton, Cal., a public administrator.

Sister Ambrosette is chairman of the Wisconsin Conference of Nursing Homes setting up programs on residential care, skilled care and extended care for patients The organization is attempting to keep leadership within the administrators and employes of these institutions. Goals and aims are set high to make it unnecessary for government intervention in the nursing home field and preserve private enterprise.

The president-elect helped build the Kaukauna home into one of the finest in the area Nine years ago the home had 14 beds and currently it is a 54-bed institution. Pointing to the extended life expectancy, Sister Ambrosette said the need for nursing homes will become even greater in future years The American College is determined to establish standards which will insure the best possible patient care, she said.

Actors Use Talents to Fight Cancer

high school students in a Pennsylvania community, impressed by Carson's afternoon talk urging check-ups, brought their parents to the night session

Concern Saves

"Concern like this can save lives," he said.

The veteran performer explained that persons like himself, known to the public and accustomed to public speaking, can serve effectively in bringing the educational program to the population

"We can present the situation in a layman's terms," he explained.

Carson's knowledge of cancer and understanding of the needs in controlling it, have grown since his contact with the society in 1957.

While his involvement initially was only personal, he admits today the statistics, which he feels are too often subjegated to Vietnam and highway deaths, also serve to strengthen his devotion to the society's work.

Expresses Optimism

He expressed optimism, mixed with caution, that the fight for control of cancer was progressing.

He mentioned that lung cancer is 10 times more prevalent that it was 30 years ago. Forty - two per cent of male cancer fatalities are from lung cancer, and most of them were heavy smokers, he said. Carson no longer smokes.

"Fewer than five of 100 with lung cancer are saved," he said.

Carson called cancer, mainly leukemia, the "largest killer of children under 15." He explained that from about 15-24, a person's susceptibility to the disease declines.

"But from 24 to 25 on, your chances of getting cancer increase steadily," he warned.

"One of every four persons will have cancer,", he said, looking around the room.

He said parents have a responsibility to educate and guard themselves against the disease so their children do not become orphans.

The annual minimum salary loss because of new cancer cases in $600 million and hospital costs total $800 million.

"Every two minutes someone dies from cancer," he said. "This is compared with one every 11 minutes on the highway.

Board Okays Land Purchase

stressed he was not opposed to industrial development and then alluded to the series of unscheduled meetings called since last week.

"All of a sudden this big rush," Errington said, "I ask if it was necessary especially in view of the fact that Del Drumm of the Chamber of Commerce apologized to the plan commission and said he knew about an industry's interest in locating at the airport site back as far as last June."

City Atty. David Geenen, a member of the land acquisition committee, agreed the city had an obligation to zone and furnish utilities as soon as possible for industries, but said he felt the county had a responsibility, too.

He informed the board the airport property had been approved for rezoning from single family to industrial by the plan commission sometime ago, and the council conducted a public hearing and held the final rezoning vote in abeyance.

Geenen said he saw no problems in officially rezoning the property as soon as the city should acquire it.

On a related matter, Zuehlke referred to city officials a communication received earlier in the afternon from a local firm interested in purchasing a piece of property in the old city-owned industrial park on the southwest side.

Richmond St., the night of Sept. 30. The youths dumped bleach about the building, and shot the contents of shaving cream cans onto merchandise. Some of the stolen merchandise was recovered.

Two youths broke into the sales building at Car City. on W. College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute, the night of Oct. 7 and, after taking keys, stole two 1965 autos. One car was driven into a ditch near the lot, and the other was recovered Tuesday night in the 1600 block of Highland Avenue in Appleton.

The same two youths admitted burglarizing Mike's Cycle Shop, 1114 Valley Road, in the Town of Menasha, and the Oshkosh Cycle Shop, 2837 Bowen St., Oshkosh. They took a used 1967 cycle, two cycle helmets, and two leather jackets from the Town of Menasha shop. The cycle was found abandoned Sept. 27, and the jackets were recovered. Two cycles were stolen from the Oshkosh shop, and were later recovered. They also took two new cycles from the showroom, but could not start them. A motorcycle jacket also was taken.

Two youths were involved in burglaries at Skall's Colonial Wonder Bar and Babe Van Camp's Club, both in the Town of Menasha, early the morning of Oct. 3.

About $125 in change was taken from a juke box at Skall's. Police said the juke box, valued at $2,400, was demolished, and there was considerable other vandalism. A loaded .22 caliber pistol, found outside Skall's, was taken from the home of one youth.

About $6.50 was taken from VanCamp's, where vandalism also occurred. Two youths hid the money from the supper clubs, and a third youth, who knew of the hiding place, stole it.

Two youths, the same ones involved in most of the other burglaries, also broke into R and R Dodge, Sam Malofsky Motors, and Electronic Expeditors, all in Appleton. The total take from the three places was about $20.

Tractor Co. moved to Grand Chute and the Wire Works built a new plant in the Town of Greenville, adding, "A third firm thinking of building here gave up in disgust."

He termed purchase of the 153 acres "a profitable investment for Appleton".

Ald. John Ayers (12th), council president, defended expediting the land purchase and said Appleton needed to take immediate advantage of the opportunity to establish an industrial park complex.

"It appears the county is now cooperating 100 per cent and the city should show its willingness, too," Ayers said.

Alds. Thompson and R P Groh (8th) voted against the proposition while Alds. John Steidl (18th), Mark Catlin (7th), Ralph Gertsch (19th) and Norman Beyer (20th) — the latter hospitalized — were absent.

Outagamie Trails

A recent report of the State Department of Resource Development, on location of new industries in Wisconsin counties during the period 1960-66, had Outagamie County trailing with only one firm coming into the county.

City officials stressed that county cooperation was vital for Appleton to expand, pointing out the city annually provides the money for 50 per cent of the Outagamie County budget.

Towns Hit Unilateral Annexation

LAKE DELTON — The Wisconsin Towns Association went on record Thursday in opposition to unilateral annexation and further urged referendums prior to annexations in towns having village powers.

Along with this resolution the association will provide sample resolutions to be presented to each town board in the state for approval.

Robert Jacobs, clerk of the Town of Menasha, urged that the towns pass similar action individually, with the aim of putting pressure on legislators in opposition to Bill 210S, which would allow unilateral annexation of surrounding town lands by cities. Many cities have previously gone on record urging its adoption.

Works Hardships

The resolution passed at the Towns Association's 20th annual convention said unilateral annexation would work hardships on town citizens since they would have no voice in the matter.

It also asked all towns to unite "in killing those vicious bills whereby towns would be torn apart piecemeal."

Towns with village powers should be treated as villages, meaning no territories could be taken from them without a referendum, the delegates agreed.

Shoppers Find Country Fair a 'Harvest of Values'

And shoppers and browsers at St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary's third Country Fair, 'A Harvest of Values' Tuesday at the Darboy Club, Darboy, found the poster prophetic.

Early Christmas shoppers, many of whom came by bus, found decorations and gifts for the holidays ahead. Gay candles, colorful candlesticks, wreaths, tree ornaments and holiday centerpieces provided an atmosphere typical of the festive season.

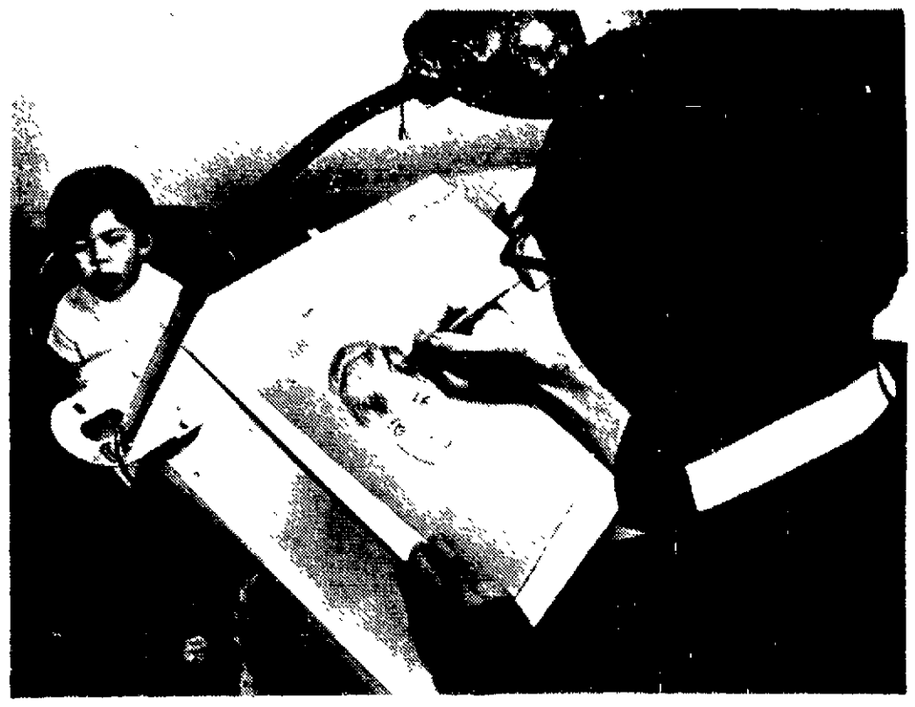
Booths were laden with gift items such as hand-knit sweaters, scarves and mittens. Racks of aprons attracted shoppers, as did the Children's Corner, filled with gift items such as stuffed animals and lovable rag dolls for youngsters.

There were also 'white elephant' items, which included such things as a potato ricer, coffee pots, goblets, books and records.

Other features of the event were the chalk portraits of visitors sketched by Brother Cosmas Wambach, SDS, of the Salvatorian Center, New Holstein.

A coffee corner was provided where tired shoppers could rest and enjoy a leisurely cup of coffee. A chicken dinner was also served in the clubs dining room during lunch and dinner hours.

Proceeds of the fair are slated toward the Auxiliary's pledge to the hospital.



Torry Buckstaff, Above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Buckstaff, Oshkosh, sits still just long enough for Brother Cosmas Wambach, SDS, to sketch her portrait in chalk. Many shoppers took home portraits. Mrs. S. M. Timmers and Mrs. Frank Briske look over a selection of aprons at the event. The colorful items were made by auxiliary members.

Among Items Sold at the Country Fair was costume jewelry. Above, Mrs. Joseph Mauthe finds a bracelet and wonders if she should purchase it. (Post-Crescent Photos)

The women are relaxing in the Coffee Corner. A treasureland of Christmas gifts and decorations greeted shoppers at the 'Harvest of Values' event. It's the Times: Boys and Men Wearing Wolf, Seal, Raccoon

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Fur coats are in Van Johnson has an olive-colored one Peter Duchin's is black Skitch Henderson's is dark brown

"It is a sign of our times," said Ernest Graf of Ben Kahn Inc., a New York furrier "With the styles, perfumes, different colored shirts—man is coming out of his shell"

David Loffman, New York representative of the Great Lakes Mink Association, agreed. "In a few years, one man in five will be wearing a fur coat," he predicted

Abercrombie & Fitch, the sportsmen's store in New York, did a brisk business in shaggy wolf coats ($350) and parkas ($200), raccoon and seal parkas ($225 and $340) last year

"It took us by surprise," a store spokesman said "This year we have doubled our orders"

For the Boys

Graf says business has been so good Ben Kahn is thinking of adding a separate men's room And Georges Kaplan, the Fifth Avenue furrier, plans to open a men's boutique next year.

Graf said he receives letters every day from men all over the country who wanted to buy furs.

"In August, we had a traveling salesman from Kansas City come in and say he had wanted one for years because they were so warm and wore so well. He said his wife had discouraged him, saying it was feminine But he saw our ads last year, and they let him come in. He ordered a $2,000 seal coat for himself

"I was skiing in Aspen, Colo last February, and a lady stopped me on the lift and wanted to know where she could find a park alike the one I was wearing for her husband, an oil research engineer in Los Angeles I measured him in my hotel room, and now he is sending me more business

Even by Mail

"There was a very distinguished looking man, an Episcopal minister from Rhode Island He bought a black Alaskan seal coat A lady in Detroit wanted a seal coat for her boyfriend. She sent in his measurements, and gave it to him for Christmas last year. We just heard from her again. She wanted to know what we were making this year.

"A businesswoman brought her husband in and we started him out in a silk raincoat lined and collared with Persian lamb He liked it so much he got a black calf coat.

"Another woman was looking at minks and couldn't make up her mind I happened to show her husband the walking coats. He bought, but she didn't"

Graf said men were a little hesitant at first.

"They're just afraid of looking feminine," he said. "As more people who are in the limelight are seen in these furs that will change The important thing is to get the right fur. It has to be masculine looking

"I can't see mink as a man's coat Mink still is considered the epitome of luxury for a woman, but not for a man A man should have seal pony—the rougher looking furs Nothing too smooth and too silky.

So what is Ben Kahn offering this fall"

Vests of exotic zebra or tiger for $150, zebra and unsheared South African seal ski parkas for $500, cocoa-colored Norwegian hair seal walking coats for $750 and street length for $1,000 and midnight blue South African Persian lamb coats for $1,250.

The most expensive are the Alaska seal coats in dark brown or black, for $1,850 to $2,000

Georges Kaplan has a mink officer's coat. "For $1,400, you can look like a general," said Jacques Kaplan, director of the salon.

"We have a chic Chesterfield in black lamb for men who want to look like Dean Acheson or Anthony Eden." Kaplan said. "It looks very good with an attache case"

Kaplan also has made a tuxedo jacket, vest and pants of Persian lamb for $1,600. But so far, he has found no takers

"We just need a cold-blooded gentleman," Kaplan said. "Size 40. But we will be glad to alter it."

Home Office Needs Effective Lighting

A home business center doesn't need to be elaborate. However, it's desirable to have a desk, a comfortable chair, good lighting and storage facilities for business matters and reference materials.

Good lighting is iportant not only near the writing surface but throughout the room, according to Katherine Bailey, home management specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Select a lamp that provides ample light, free from glare — either desk, table or floor model (preferably swing-arm type); pin-up lamp for the wall or a lighted shelf. Choose lampshades that are opaque or white to reflect as much light as possible. Keep the lower edge of the shade at eye level for the person who is usually seated at the desk.

Place the lamp on the opposite side of your working hand. About 15 inches to the left or right of your work and 12 inches from front edge of desk will give work area good light. Use a 150-watt bulb and a diffuser bowl or white indirect bulb to diffuse and soften the light, Mrs. Bailey says. If two lamps are used and the walls are light in color 100-watt bulbs will do.

When looking for a new study lamp, consider buying one that is recommended by the Better Light Better Sight Bureau, a no profit organization sponsored by the lamp industry. If the lamp has met the specifications set up by this group it will be tagged with the BLBS sign.

A desk needs to suit the height and desired work space of the person who uses it most often. A surface that is light in color or is covered with a light blotter is good. Select a chair that has a sturdy back support and has adjustments to give a comfortable height for the user.

A good business center includes a filing system located in a convenient place which is organized so that materials can be found readily. Try keeping two sets of files — one for current transactions and records and a second for materials that need to be kept permanently.

Don't Grab More Than You Need

When you need a few sheets of stationery you don't buy a paper mill. Likewise, when you don't need all of the tricks you shouldn't play for them.

South won the first trick with the king of spades, drew trumps in three rounds ending in the dummy and then tried a finesse with the queen of clubs. This lost to the singleton king.

West drove out the ace of spades, and South took his high clubs and ruffed a club in dummy. Then he led out his last two trumps, hoping for a squeeze.

West saved the king-jack of hearts, and East saved the eight of spades. The squeeze play failed and South was down one.

Should Not Finesse

South could have made the slam by leading out the ace of clubs instead of trying a finesse with the queen. South didn't have our advantage of seeing all of the cards, but should have made this play anyway.

When the king drops, South is home. If the king fails to drop, South gets to dummy with the ace of hearts to lead another club. If East has the king of clubs, South can win with the queen of clubs and returns to dummy with the ten of diamonds to lead another club. East can take the king of clubs, if he has it, but South will take three club tricks. This is all he needs, since he can discard the losing spade from dummy on the fourth round of clubs.

If East does not have the king of clubs, there is no advantage in taking a finesse. West will get his king of clubs, if he has it guarded, and then South must hope that the six missing clubs break 3-3 so that his last club will be good in any case.

The first-round club finesse gives South his best chance for all four club tricks. Playing the ace first gives him the best chance for three club tricks.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 2-NT (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S 6 4 3 H A 10 D Q 10 6 5 3 C 8 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid 3-NT. The combined count should be 28 to 30 points in high cards, enough for game but not enough for slam. Since your distribution is balanced you should not try for another than the 9-trick game in notrump.

Randall Strohmeyer, the bridegroom's brother, performed the duties of best man. Thomas Walkner and Richard Hiltenmiller were groomsmen. Jeffrey Strohmeyer was junior male attendant. Thomas Jandourek and George Reddin seated guests.

Fashion Dictates Brave Black Leg

Enter the Brave Black Leg, daring to compete with the white and neon bright stockings that women from coast to coast have adopted this year.

The black stocking made its debut with the showing of fall clothes in this country. Next it became a footnote endorsed by top Paris couturiers in their fall collections. Now, highly fashionable women are beginning to wear it.

This new look that will sweep the country before long, enthuses the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, and it will be worn right into the warm days of spring.

Black at Night

How black is black? Well, even in the dark of night some light comes through—and that is how black, black stockings are. They have the relief of texture, shine, open fishnet, all-over sheer, decoration or geometric patterns on sheer opaques.

What is worn with the black stocking is as important as the stocking itself. Shoes play a major part. Black, shiny shoes are the rule for daywear. Patent leather is for year-round wear now and is a must to accompany the black leg. Of course, these shoes should be as modern as the black stockings—blunt or rounded toes set on a broad low-to-medium heel.

For evening, the black stocking is exciting and naughty, often sheer and glittery, to be worn with silk, satin, velvet, etc. evening shoes, providing they are black and very up-to-date in style.

What to wear with your new leg look? Black stockings and shoes can complete a total head-to-toe black or mostly black look; such as accessories for a black and white glen plaid, striped or tweed outfit. Or, they can be worn as an accent to a brightly colored dress, suit or coat. In this case, be cautious in selecting black for other accessories, as the effect could look spotty.

The black leg is a very new look and deserves some experimenting to obtain just the right balance with your wardrobe. When you hit on the right combination, it is going to look smashingly different and exciting.

Lord Harlech Repeats Mrs. Kennedy's Denial

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Sir David Ormsby-Gore, Lord Harlech of Britain, has denied any romantic link with Mrs. John F. Kennedy and says there is "no foundation" to a report they will marry.

Mrs. Kennedy, through her secretary, also has denied the report.

Lord Harlech, British ambassador to Washington during the administration of the late President Kennedy, arrived in Charleston Wednesday night. He denied the marriage rumor in an airport interview.

Asked about the reported romance, he described his relationship with Mrs. Kennedy as just "very close friends"—and had been close friends for 13 years.

Later, in his Charleston hotel suite, Lord Harlech appeared to accept with good humor the prospect that he likely will be asked about the romance rumor many times during his lecture tour in the United States this month.

Will Repeat

"I'll just keep telling them no," he said.

Lord Harlech said he supposed that almost any unmarried person known to be a friend of Mrs. Kennedy has been suggested as a possible husband.

"I know of no other explanation," he said

He answered, "yes" but did not elaborate when asked if he had spoken with Mrs. Kennedy since the speculation about the romance began.

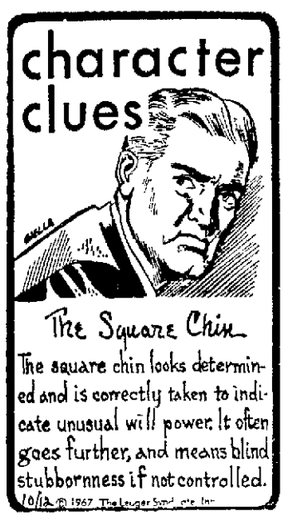
Lord Harlech said that when he is visiting the United States he always sees Mrs. Kennedy and said they also met when she was vacationing in Ireland this year

He knew the late President Kennedy when his father was U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Harlech, 49, who inherited his title from his father in 1964, said the family ties with the Kennedys grew closer when Lord Harlech's cousin, Lord Hartington, was married to John F. Kennedy's late sister, Kathleen.

When Lord Harlech's wife, Lady Sylvia, was killed in an auto accident last May, Mrs. Kennedy flew to London for her funeral.

The report Lord Harlech would marry Mrs. Kennedy was published by Women's Wear Daily.



'Minding the Store' Can Be Amazing Experience

By VIVIAN BROWN

If you are ever asked to "mind the store," you should do it for your own amazement Any store—grocery, vegetable, antique, gifts—will provide you with a greater understanding of the human race. (Sore feet and a hoarse throat may slow afterwork activities.)

For one thing, you'll discover that the most overworked words in America are probably, "I'm just looking."

Sort Out Buyers

You will sort out potential buyers as lookers, feelers, patters, or squeezers as they rub and disarrange merchandise on display There are people roaming stores to kill time, some who are merely waiting for the rain to stop (oh, those umbrellas) and some (honest) who just want to make conversation.

This opportunity for store research came unexpectedly at a gift shop on Nantucket where potential customers include summer and permanent residents, day tourists, and wealthy off-the-yacht types visiting in the harbor

Two groups—teen-agers and the thoroughly tanned, rich throaty-voiced ladies off the yachts do not waste their shopping time.

Teen-Age Shoppers

Teen-agers usually come into a shop knowing what they want At this shop, the going things were jewelry boxes in vivid colors with little drawers, and package ties of twisted wool in vivid blues, greens, oranges, reds, purple. The colorful plump wool ties were meant for package wrappings but were seized upon by enterprising girls as ideal for tying hair at the nape of the neck. It quickly became a fad over the island.

You could peg permanent, summer residents and yachts people after awhile as being interested in bridal and hostess gifts—demitasse cups, casserole dishes, luggage racks (a big seller), crystal But day tourists and short-term vacationers often are browsers They spend a day wandering from souvenir store to souvenir store and to antique and gift shops.

Some browsers are self-conscious so they may ask help in selecting a gift for Aunt Minnie. But the answers are pretty much the same—"she doesn't do much entertaining," "she has lots of those," "that isn't her type."

Another great out for browsers is "do you have it in other colors?"

Parents Feel Announcement Dirty Trick to Trap Their Son

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were shocked to pick up our newspaper and read that our 19-year-old son is engaged to marry a girl he has been going steady with for seven months. We liked the girl until she did this rotten thing. Now my husband and I are not sure we will attend the wedding.

I have a feeling the girl hooked our boy by putting the announcement in the paper. He never told us he was anxious to get married and, furthermore, he has three years of college ahead of him.

Don't newspapers have the responsibility of checking with both sets of parents to learn if they have given their consent to the marriage? Can a girl walk in off the street, hand the editor her picture and say she is engaged and that's all there is to it? We await your reply. — S.O.S.

Dear S.O.S.: I do not know of a newspaper in the world that checks out engagement announcements to learn if the parents have given their consent. And why should they?

Your problem, dear friend, is not with the newspaper but with your son. It sounds as if the lines of communication have been closed for a long time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Although I am nearly 70 years old I read your column every day and I learn from it. Last week you printed a response to a woman who signed herself "Against Dirt." She was criticizing you for being so frank. You told her that girls need correct information so they will know how to deal with "eight-handed idiots." You pointed out that girls who do not know the score get into serious trouble.

Landers

Please tell me, Ann, what is an "eight-handed idiot"? — Dying of Curiosity

Dear Curiosity: An eight-handed idiot is a guy whose two hands cover so much mileage that a girl could swear he has six extra.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Regarding the woman in the supermarket who stole a candy bar and slipped it into her young son's pocket. When I read such things it makes me sick. Don't these people realize what they are doing?

And what about the mothers who tell their youngsters to lie about their age so they can ride on the bus free or get into a movie for half fare? My next door neighbor used to tell her children to say she wasn't home when certain people came to call. She'd hide in the back closet and sent the kids to the front door to lie for her. I was not surprised when her two sons became involved in a petty theft ring and were sent to a reformatory.

How can parents expect their children to grow up to be honorable citizens when they teach them to be dishonest? Please put this straight to American mothers and fathers and let them answer in their hearts. — Quo Vadis

Dear Quo: I could not put it any straighter than you did. And I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Your letter contains a vital message to all parents everywhere. I wish it could be posted in foot-high letters and lit up in neon lights from coast to coast.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Talking Picture 'Fad' Just 40 Years Old

Al Jolson's 'Jazz Singer' Started New Era That's Kept Improving Since 1927

By GENE HANSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Forty years ago last Friday, talking pictures arrived when Al Jolson said from the screen of a New York theater "Come on, Ma Listen to this!"

Some producers said talkies were a fad that couldn t last, but Warner Bros ' "The Jazz Singer" touched off a movie-making revolution within two years weekly theater attendance jumped from 57 million to 95 million

Careers faded, among them John Gilbert's and Tom Mix's, because their shallow voices didn't match their virile looks Foreign actors suddenly had to learn English Not all succeeded

Sound Improved

Early sound was recorded on 16 inch wax discs Despite a common gear sound and picture often got out of synchronization in the theater, providing laughs where they weren t intended

Now up to six tracks of stereophonic sound are recorded right on the film, on strips of iron oxide like a home recorder's tape

MGM has just spent nearly two years rephotographing and rerecording all 345,000 frames of four-hour "Gone With the Wind" for the big screen Billboards exaggerate the result as "full stereophonic sound" although some noises were eliminated and fire and battle sounds added to the Atlanta scenes

Early sound men improvised at hiding their microphones—behind vases, in light fixtures, furniture, telephones and actors' clothing

New Devices

The early 15-pound carbon microphones picked up extraneous noises from all sides Now they're directional devices maneuvered by a man on the platform of a long, movable boom

A newer refinement is the radio microphone, concealed under an actor's clothing with a wire down his trousers leg as an antenna. For "Point Blank," Lee Marvin smashed up a speeding car under a freeway The door flew open and his passenger, Michael Strong, fell out—all action called for in the script Padded radio mikes in their clothes carried their dialogue to recording gear 200 feet away.

In early days, the whir of cameras was muffled by operating them inside stuffy, six-foot-square booths rolled about the stage on wheels Then covers called blimps were devised to silence the cameras

Now Transistors

The future? Transistors are replacing tubes, which total 1,500 in a typical studio recording complex. Recording with laser light for cleaner sound is said to be on the way.

And maybe it's a good time to buy ear-plug stock Instead of the present five speakers behind theater screens, MGM's veteran sound chief, Franklin E Milton, foresees 20 to 30

"This," he says, "will give an even distribution of sound"

Educator Emphasizes Marketing Philosophy

Special to The Post-Crescent

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — For the successful company, marketing must be an over-riding philosophy of the entire firm and all its elements, Dr. George D. Downing, Michigan State University, told paper merchant executives Wednesday at a two-day seminar sponsored by Consolidated Papers, Inc.

Although "marketing" and "marketing concept" are fashionable and freely used terms often equated with functions such as advertising, selling, or warehousing, the marketing concept must envelop the entire operations of a company. It really must be considered as a socioeconomic process, a system, and a dimension of work, Downing said.

Downing, who is also chairman of the Department of Marketing at Arizona State University, has had 23 years of experience in marketing at General Electric. "The success of a firm significantly depends upon the 'matching up' of the firm's products and services with the customers' real and potential needs, wants, and problems," Downing said. "The crucial concept here is that everything which the firm does must tailor to this."

President Talks

The program for 75 Consolidated enamel paper merchant executives from across the nation also included a discussion of Consolidated corporate objectives this morning by President George W Mead, II The marketing partnership of Consolidated and its paper merchants was the topic of Harold Murtfeldt, vice president of marketing, enamel papers.

The remainder of this morning's program included a presentation by the Product Development Group and a mill managers' luncheon.

This afternoon's session included a tour of the $31 million Kraft Division now under construction, and five marketing clinics There were optional tours of research and development and the company's Wisconsin Rapids Division

The executive seminar opened Tuesday evening at the Mead Inn with "Partners in Marketing" as its theme.

Meet Thursday

Thursday's program includes a joint discussion by L W Murtfeldt, vice president, operations, and G. T Beckley, director product and market planning, on the projected benefits of a comprehensive study and analysis of finishing, scheduling, and sales operations procedures.

The use of the computer at Consolidated will be the topic of Richard S. Bingham, director of technical services, and James P. Callahan, director of market services, will discuss the expanded seminar programs for 1968.

Talks by Mead, Harold Murtfeldt, J E Anderlik, director of advertising and sales promotion, and T. E. Hess, sales promotion manager, will conclude the program.

Schools Look For Teachers In Appleton

The Appleton Public School System will be employing certified teachers to fill a number of professional vacancies which will exist between Nov 1 and Feb. 1, Supt. William Spears has announced.

4 Fox Valley Men Honored for Safe Driving Records

Four Fox Valley men were among 23 troopers and officers of the Wisconsin State Patrol recognized this month by the National Safety Council (NSC) for another year of accident-free driving in the NSC national fleet safety contest.

Area troopers honored were Richard Cox, 430 Edna Ave., Neenah, Kenneth DeTroye, 614 Bragg St., Fond du Lac; Robert Geurts, 2345 Comet St., Oshkosh; and Duane Jorgensen, route 2, Hortonville

Capt. Harold W. Meyer, State Patrol fleet safety officer, said, "Safe driving practices are neither gained nor easily kept; it seems to take a year or more for our men to acquire the kind of driving habits that help prevent accidents.

"Even then, it takes continual review and conscious effort to keep those good practices," Meyer said.

The area state patrolmen honored each have between nine and 11 years of service.

Make an Autograph Frame For Your Friends to Sign

BY CAPPY DICK

The next time you have your photo taken in a group, large or small, make arrangements to get the signature of everyone in the picture. It can be a photo of your school class, your scout troop, your swimming team, chorus, ball team or any other group of friends.

After getting a print of the picture, prepare a cardboard frame. Cut an opening in a piece of cardboard, making it slightly smaller than the photograph. Place the picture behind this opening and tape it in place. Decorate the edges of the opening and the frame as indicated in Figure 1. Then take the framed picture around to all those who are in the picture and have each one sign his name on the cardboard.

Finally, equip the back of the frame with an easel of cardboard (Figure 2) so it will stand upright on your desk.

The signatures will add considerable interest to the picture.

Snail's Pace

At the bottom of a well, which is 28 feet deep, there is a snail. This snail begins climbing toward the top of the well in a vertical line. If the snail climbs 3 feet each day, but slides back down 2 feet each night, how many days will it take this poor snail to reach the top of the well?

ANSWER

26 days. The snail gains a net of one foot per day, and at the end of 25 days is 3 feet from the top of the well. He makes these 3 feet on the following, or 26th day.

Lonborg Sent Home Early to Avoid Bedlam After 8-4 Boston Triumph

Series Records Topple as Red Sox Confound Experts

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — When Manager Red Schoendienst of St. Louis tries to go to sleep this winter, counting sheep won't do any good. He'll lie awake counting Cardinal pitchers riding from the bullpen to the mound in the sixth game of the World Series.

The parade of pitchers stopped Wednesday only because the game ended. When it did, the Boston Red Sox had won 8-4 and evened the Series at three games each.

That meant the Series would go to the seventh and deciding game today.

It also meant each team's ace pitcher, St. Louis' Bob Gibson and Boston's Jim Lonborg, finally would face each other after winning two games apiece against other pitchers. In no other Series have a pair of 2-0 winners met.

Gibson, who won the first and fourth games, was only one of three pitchers left from the Cardinals' 11-man staff at the end of Boston's four-homer, 12-hit onslaught.

Avoid Bedlam

Lonborg, the winner in games two and five, left Fenway Park in the seventh inning, sent home early by Manager Dick Williams to avoid the postgame bedlam.

If there was any difference in the pitchers, it was in the amount of rest each had since their last game—Gibson three days and Lonborg two.

"I'd prefer Jim to have three days rest," Williams said, "but I'd rather have him than any other pitcher in baseball, even with two days rest."

"I'm ready," Gibson countered. "I just want to go out and do the job. I'll probably be more rested than Lonborg, but sometimes in the Series it doesn't make any difference. It's that little something extra that wins a World Series."

Slugged Way to Win

The Red Sox had a lot extra Wednesday as they slugged their way to the Series-tying victory.

They started with Rico Petrocelli's home run in the second inning, went through three more homers off Dick Hughes—by Carl Yastrzemski, Reggie Smith and Petrocelli again—in the fourth and climaxed the wild contest with a tie-breaking, four-run rally in the seventh that featured some nearly unbelievable plays. It took 29 minutes to play the last of the seventh.

"They can call it destiny, luck, ability or a combination of all three," Williams said. "Whatever it is, I hope it lasts one more day."

In forcing it to seven games, the Red Sox have confounded the experts just as they did in rocketing from ninth place to first in the American League.

Only 3 Came Back

When they were down three games to one, they knew that only three teams in 63 previous series had come back from that deficit—the 1903 Red Sox, the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates and the 1956 New York Yankees.

Schoendienst and the rest of the Cardinals watched in agony, and very likely disbelief, as eight of their pitchers took turns trying to subdue the aroused Red Sox. No team ever has used more than eight pitchers in a Series game.

Hughes began the day and after he was battered for a record-tying four homers—a record-breaking three in one inning—he was followed by Ron Willis, Nelson Briles, Jack Lamabe, Joe Hoerner, Larry Jaster, Ray Washburn and Hal Woodeshick.

"I didn't think they'd hit Hughes like that," Schoendienst said.

"When you're not hitting, you press," said shortstop Petrocelli, who went into the game with only one hit in 14 at-bats. "But the first homer really lifted me. I felt more confident, more relaxed at the plate.

"They both surprised me. Anytime I get a hit, it surprises me. I just threw the bat out, and the ball hit the bat. Afer he second one I was in another world. I get chills running around the bases."

Despite the home run barrage, the Cardinals stayed in the game with Lou Brock doing the damage as usual.

In the third inning, he singled home St. Louis' first run, then stole second and raced home as Curt Flood singled. In the seventh, he tied the game again, this time on a two-run, 440-foot homer against John Wyatt, who turned out to be the winning pitcher.

Started With Single

Then came the Boston seventh, which pinch hitter Dalton Jones started with a single off Lamabe. Joe Foy doubled, driving in Jones with the tie-breaking run and driving out Lamabe, the eventual loser.

Hoerner gave up singles to Mike Andrews and Yastrzemski and Jaster was touched for Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly and singles by George Scott and Reggie Smith before Washburn finally ended the inning.

There were three plays in the inning that were crucial Brock made an unsuccessful leaping stab for Foy's double, shortstop Dal Maxvill broke right instead of left for Scott's routine grounder and Brock, Flood and Maxvill let Smith's high fly ball drop among them.

"I never saw the ball," Maxvill said. "I don't know why I lost it. I lunged to the right and the next thing I know the ball was bouncing past me."

Gone, but not forgotten by the end was Gary Waslewski, Boston's 26-year-old rookie who started the vital game. He lasted 5 1-3 innings, allowing two runs and four hits.

Gave All He Could

"Was did a heck of a job," Williams said. "I'm only sorry he couldn't get the victory He gave me all he could as long as he could."

Added Waslewski, who hadn't started a game since Sept. 3 at Toronto:

"I wish I could have done better. I just ran out of gas. My arm went numb, and I couldn't find the plate. I think it was just a little too long between starts."

Although Appleton's two public high schools retain no football title ambitions themselves in their first season after the Big Split, they can still play meaty roles in the unraveling of the Fox River Valley Conference's biggest tangle in years.

It all starts Saturday in a pair of Appleton-Sheboygan skirmishes Appleton East visits corunnerup Sheboygan North, while Appleton West plays host to co-fourth place Sheboygan South.

The Sheboygan entries are two of the six teams that still harbor realistic title ambitions as the FRVC race goes into the back stretch. Also in the running are three Green Bay schools — unbeaten-but-tied West; once-beaten, once-tied Preble, and once-beaten, twice-tied Southwest. Fond du Lac (4-1) is the "outsider" that will try to spoil the Green Bay-Sheboygan title party.

For Appleton West, which is making its first start since its narrow, 12-7 loss to AHS-E Sept 30, this is the beginning of the second half of the demanding schedule, which calls for the Terrors to play four straight contenders After Sheboygan South, AHS-W faces North, Fond du Lac and Preble.

Must Tighten Defense

The Terrors must spring one or more surprises in their quartet of remaining games if Ade Dillon is to escape the first winless season in a 25-year head-coaching career. AHS-W must find a way to tighten the defense that has yielded 83 points in four games, and find a way to "rev up" the offense which has produced only two touchdowns to date

The Claude Radtke-coached East team also has a game slated against South (Oct. 28). The Patriots, who have beaten Manitowoc and AHS-W, have lost close decisions to Preble (14 6) and Fond du Lac (6-0) and

Kaukauna to Be Volleyball Meet Host

Four high school volleyball teams will compete tonight in the regional tournament at Kaukauna High School

The teams, in addition to the host Ghosts will be Appleton East, Appleton West and Kimberly.

Kaukauna won the title in last weekend's Antigo invitational meet in a playoff against Antigo Appleton West, which won four of 10 placed fourth in the 6-team field.

AHS-W defeated AHS-E, 15-19, 15-11 and 15-10, Tuesday The Terrors have won four of five matches in league play.

A Trio of Happy Red Sox sluggers had broad grins in the Boston dressing room Wednesday after they had been instrumental in their team's 8-4 victory over St. Louis in the sixth game of the World Series. The three players—Rico Petrocelli (left), Carl Yastrzemski (center), and Reggie Smith-all hit solo home runs in the Boston fourth inning to set a new World Series record. (AP Wirephoto)

Pack's Rookie Linebacker

Flanigan Gained Confidence

Post Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Freshman Jim Flanigan doesn't expect to be in the Packers' starting lineup against the Vikings Sunday, but if the middle linebacker assignment should fall to him, he will be "more comfortable" than heretofore.

The impressively hewn University of Pittsburgh product had his National Football League baptism of fire in last weekend's 27-17 victory over the Detroit Lions, when he was called upon the second minute of the fourth quarter after all-pro Ray Nitschke pulled a muscle en route to what proved to be the winning touchdown with a highly opportune interception

As is customary when a rookie is inserted, the enemy lost little time in testing Flanigan's competence "They ran a couple of draws," he revealed in reviewing his Sunday stint following Wednesday's practice "On the third play I was in there, they ran a draw and didn't get anywhere with it"

This last was said matter-of-factly, but there was a trace of quiet satisfaction in the tone

"They were behind and put Sweetan (Quarterback Karl) in," Jim added, "and they threw quite a bit after that."

Lost Anxiety

The issue was still in the doubt—the Packers led 20-10 when he entered the game — and the West Mifflin, Pa., native was not unaware of the responsibility he had just assumed, but any anxiety he may have felt was greatly eased when he arrived at the defensive huddle, Flanigan reported.

"As soon as I got in there," Jim confided, "Willie Davis (defensive captain) came over and told me to take it easy. . . They give you a lot of confidence in yourself, and you can depend on them for help."

"They help you out quite a bit — They help you out with the calls and remind you of little things."

Although it obviously was his most important chore to date, his Detroit "debut" was not Flanigan's longest competitive appearance as a Packer

"I played three quarters in our final pre-season game against the Giants," he said "I usually get in toward the end of a game a little bit, but its usually mostly passing when I do — You don't see too much running"

Little By Little

How does he assess his progress? "I think it's coming little by little," was the deliberate, thoughtful reply "It's going to take a long time But I feel more comfortable in there . . . I can think more clearly now."

"Playing against Detroit was a good experience. The only way you can get adjusted is to play a little as often as you can . . . but," he repeated, "it's going to take a long time."

Flanigan expects to resume his understudy role in Milwaukee County Stadium Sunday afternoon, he concluded. "I'm pretty sure Ray will be ready by then," Jim said. "He was running pretty good in practice today."

Better than half of the season is in the record book, but the Fox Valley Catholic Conference football race is still classed as "wide open", with four teams in contention.

Two of the four are pitted against each other Friday night, when Appleton Xavier entertains St Mary Menasha, while the other two will be featured in Saturday action

Unbeaten Little Chute St. John and Green Bay Premontre face second division foes, but cannot afford to stumble. St. John, victor over Xavier last weekend, will play host to Marinette Central Catholic Saturday afternoon while DePere Abbot Pennings invades Premontre.

The other league contest will have Oshkosh Lourdes at Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs Friday night

Could Be Repeat

The Xavier-St Mary clash could be a repeat of last Friday's St John-Xavier heart-stopper Observers rated the Chuter-Hawk clash, which saw the Dutchmen come away with a 21-14 triumph, as one of the most exciting and hard-hitting high school games the area has ever witnessed.

Both the Zephyrs and Hawks have 3-1 records and go into the contest facing a "must win" situation. In statistics, the two teams rate an even match with St Mary having scored 112 points in four games to 115 for the Hawks. Xavier has allowed 21 markers and St. Mary has given up 26, including 20 in one game to Premontre

Standout Passer

If the Zephyrs rate an edge in any department it would have to be passing where Mike McClone, talented quarterback, has been a standout McClone leads the conference with 21 completions in 44 attempts for 434 yards.

Top receiver for the Zephyrs is Bill Heimerman with eight catches for 179 yards and three touchdowns, Mark Pozolinski has gathered in five aerials for 138 yards and also has three touchdowns

Xavier has the leading rushing total in the loop with a team mark of 838 Brad Graff and Jerry Rankin each has gained 278 yards with Graff carrying 38 times and Rankin 45. They are tied for fourth place rushing in the conference

Leading pass receiver for the Hawks is Tom Thomson, with seven catches for 155 yards and two touchdowns

Coach Avitus Ripp of St John is hoping his Dutchmen can

State Golfers Protest Two USGA Rulings

APPLETON (AP)— The Wisconsin State Golf Association has attacked rulings by the U.S. Golf Association barring the croquet putter and cutting merchandise prizes from $200 to $100.

Both rules changes effective Jan 1, will be ignored in Wisconsin

The Wisconsin group at its annual meeting voted unanimously to protest the changes ordered by the national organization and approved the croquet putter and the $200 top award for next year

The action, taken earlier this week, marked the first time the Wisconsin group openly opposed USGA legislation

Yogi Berra Agrees To Stay With Mets

BOSTON (AP) — Gil Hodges, new manager of the New York Mets, said Wednesday Yogi Berra would remain with the team as a coach.

"I've talked to Yogi, and he has agreed to stay on as a coach," Hodges said "I'm very happy that he has"

Berra, who has served as a Met coach for three years, had been considered by many to be the leading candidate for the job which Hodges was given Wednesday.

Brillion Keeps Second in Little Ten

Evergreens Still Choice, GBW Now 9th

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Second-place remained the hot spot in The Associated Press "Big Ten" high school football poll Wednesday while Schofield remained serenely undisturbed at the top of the elite.

Stratford (6-0) continued to dominate the "Little Ten," the rankings for Wisconsin's smaller schools in the balloting by state sports writers and sport caster.

Eau Claire Memorial (4-0-1), which took the runnerup spot away from Wausau (5-1) last week, couldn't hold it. The Old Abes tied Menomonie (4-1) and dropped behind Wausau into eighth place

Moving up into No 2 position was Madison La Follette (3-0), a 26-0 winner over Beloit

Milwaukee Boys' Tech (4-0) took third place with a 46-14 win over Milwaukee West. Tech ousted Marshfield Columbus (6-0), which fell a notch to fourth despite a 16-0 win over Eau Claire Regis.

Horlick Fifth

Racine Horlick (4-0) moved into fifth place from eighth with a 19-7 victory over Janesville Parker while sixth place went to Madison Edgewood (6-0), now idle until Oct. 21 after dropping dangerous Milwaukee Pius 14-0. The Crusaders had been ninth.

Wausau remained seventh after crushing Chippewa Falls 44-7. Behind Memorial in ninth place was Green Bay West (3-0-1), a team that tied Green Bay Southwest 7-7 and dropped from the fourth spot.

Newcomer Waukesha Memorial (6-0) won 10th place, ousting South Milwaukee (3-0-1) after beating Milwaukee Notre Dame 46-6. South Milwaukee tied Cudahy 28-28.

Stratford held firm to the top of the "Little Ten" with an easy 34-0 win over previously unbeaten Pittsville No 2 Brillion (6-0) kept pace by toppling Reedsville 27-0.

Replaces Greenwood

Kohler (6-0) skipped past Greenwood (5-1) into third place by defeating Plymouth 28-14 while Greenwood was beating Neillsville 24-7. Fifth place became the property of Bloomer (6-0), a 28-12 victor over Hayward. Howards Grove (4-0-1) lost ground to sixth place after dumping Manitowoc Lutheran 33-0.

Westby (5-0) moved from 10th to seventh place with a 7-6 win over Viroqua while Stanley-Boyd (5-1) fell from sixth to eighth place despite a 45-0 trouncing of Holcombe.

Kiel (4-1) got by Valders 25-12 but still dropped from seventh to ninth and previously unranked Barneveld (6-0) moved into the elite in 10th place with a 53-0 pasting of Madison Apostles

Trempealeau (4-1) ranked eighth a week ago, dropped out of the standings despite a 13-12 win over Gale-Ettrick

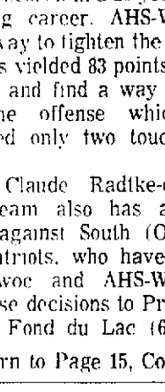
66 Student Ballots Proclaim Schuler as 'Back of Week'

LITTLE CHUTE (AP) —Students at Little Chute St. John High School gave 66 reasons today why Oscar Schuler should have been The Associated Press football "Player of the Week."



"Oscar" Schuler

Sixty-six St. John students signed ballots saying they were sports writers for the "Little Chute Gazette" and that Schuler was their nominee for the weekly prep award The Gazette is a school newspaper.

Schuler, a 5-foot-11, 200-pound senior, scored three touchdowns and was a defensive standout in St. John's 21-14 win over Appleton Xavier, a team that formerly terrorized St. John and other entries in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference.

It was the first time St. John had ever beaten Xavier in a major sport

Coach Avitus Ripp of St John knew nothing about the campaign, apparently organized after Dan Pregont of Schofield won this week's award.

West Virginia Soccer Kicker Tops in Scoring

Juskowich Already Has Booted 11 FGs In Five Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's top scorer is not a pass-catching end nor a hard-running halfback. He's a soccer-style place kicker, Ken Juskowich of West Virginia, who in five games has booted 11 field goals and 10 extra points for 43 points.

He has a one-point edge over Butch Colson, who has scored seven touchdowns for East Carolina, and Ken Hebert of Houston, who has four touchdowns, 15 extra points and a field goal. They are tied at 42.

The National Collegiate Sports Service, which keeps account of such things, revealed individual leaders Wednesday in six categories, including scoring and kick-scoring Juskowich tops the both of the latter

Ace Henricks of New Mexico, is setting the pace with 33 receptions in four games for 552 yards and three touchdowns Pressing him are Jim Cavanaugh, William & Mary, 440 yards, Phil Odle of Brigham Young, 380, Ron Sellers, Florida State, 379, and Dennis Human, Alabama, 378

Bob Zimpfer of Bowling Green is tops in punt returns, bringing back 12 for 260 yards, followed by Vic Washington of Wyoming, 20 for 256 yards

Joe Casas of New Mexico leads kickoff returns with 317 yards to show for 10 returns Curly Waters of West Texas State is second with 11 returns for 293 yards

Lou Harris of Kent State leads the country in intercepted passes He has intercepted five in four games

Maxvill 'Never Saw' Ground Ball

Did 'Red' Wait Too Long to Pull Hughes?

BOSTON (AP) — Did Red Schoendienst go too far with Dick Hughes? Should Lou Brock have played Joe Foy's drive safely instead of trying to make a leaping catch? What happened to Dal Maxvill on George Scott's ground ball single?

The sixth game of the World Series Wednesday at Fenway Park in which the Boston Red Sox squared matters at 3-3 by winning an 8-4 slugfest left a few questions to be answered.

Needing only one more win to close out the Series, the Cardinal manager left starter Hughes in the box until a record-tying four home runs were hit off him in 3 2-3 innings

With a bullpen loaded with rested pitchers, there were some who second guessed the Card manager for not giving Hughes a quicker hook in the fourth inning.

After a Cardinal rally, composed of Julian Javier's double, Brock's single and stolen base and Curt Flood's single had put the Cards ahead, 2-1, in the third, the Red Sox really bombed Hughes in the fourth

Carl Yastrzemski led off with a 360-foot smash into the screen in left center. After Hughes got two out, Reggie Smith slashed a homer into the right field stands Then Petrocelli did it again, this time a duplicate of Yaz's homer, to left center

The 2-1 lead had become a 4-2 deficit before Red called in Ron Willis to get the third out. Red said later, "I can't understand how they ripped Hughes like they did. He was getting the ball up, not down."

After Brock's tremendous 440-foot homer into the center field bleachers with pinch hitter Bob Tolan, who had walked, on base tied the score in the top of the seventh, the Sox struck back with four big runs.

It all started innocently enough with a one-out pinch single by Dalton Jones Foy followed with a drive to left and Brock, leaping in a desperate effort for the ball, failed to make the catch. The ball rolled to the wall for a double and Jones, running through a stop sign by third base coach Eddie Popowski, scored the tie-breaker

"I was going for the ball," said Brock, the Cards' big hitting star Asked if he considered playing it safe and fielding the ball off the wall, Brock said: "We didn't get here by playing safety first ball"

Mike Andrews' single scored Foy with the second run of the inning and Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly knocked in a third score, following a single by Yaz.

Scott got a break when Maxvill broke to his right on his grounder and the ball bounced through the hole he had just opened up, and went for a single

"I never saw the ball," said Maxvill "I don't know why I lost it I lunged to the right and the next thing I knew the ball was bouncing past me"

Smith then lofted a high pop into short left center that fell among Brock, Maxvill and Flood for a hit.

"Nobody called for it," said Flood "We all thought we had a chance for it but it just fell in" Yastrzemski came in with the fourth and final run on the hit by Smith

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette University begins basketball practice Monday, bolstered by the return of 80 per cent of the team which went to the finals of the National Invitation Tournament last March

The new season opens against St. Thomas of St Paul, Minn

Coach Al McGuire, starting his fourth season at Marquette, said, "I've never looked forward so much to the start of a season There's pride on the team now and talent enough so we are capable of playing with anyone."

Returning starters from the Cinderella team which won 20 of 29 games are George Thompson, who McGuire believes is capable of All-America honors, Brian Brunkhorst, playmaker Jim Burke and center Pat Smith

Also competing for starting assignments are sophomores Jeff Sewall, Jackie Burke, Ron Rahn and Joe Thomas.

Vike Frosh Open Season by Downing Lakeland '11,' 20-18

The Lawrence University freshman football team opened the season Tuesday with a 20-18 victory over the Lakeland College frosh squad.

The loss was the first for the Muskies who had beaten a highly-regarded Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh team the previous week

Fred Carzoli, fullback, scored first for the Vikes on 7-yard run in the first period. The score was tied at 6-6 at the half

Quarterback Terry Geoger counted the second Lawrence TD on an 11-yard keeper in the third period

Steve Rechner, Appleton, scored the final Lawrence touchdown on a combination play with Mike Locke. Locke picked off a Lakeland fumble in the air and ran toward the goal. When Locke was hit he lateralled the ball to Rechner who went the remaining distance The play covered 29 yards The 2 point conversion enabling the Vikes to win was scored by Carzoli on a run.

Carzoli was the leading ball carrier for the Vikes as he gained 70 yards in 23 rushing attempts

The Viking defense intercepted three passes. Coach Clyde Rusk singled out Pete Olson, Bill Marchak, Doug Khort, Lance Alwin and Rechner for their good defensive work Looking good on offense were Paul Zeimer, Appleton, center and end Jim Ralph, along with wingback Steve Bartel. John Schaefer went both ways and turned in a sharp performance

Linebacker Jerry Kaminski was injured in the game, but is expected to be ready when the Vikes entertain Beloit at the Lawrence Bowl next Thursday.

Winners of the 2-Man Best Ball tournament at Fox Valley Golf Club, Kaukauna, were Jerry Hiler, left, and Paul Hietpas, who topped the 64-team event. This is the first tourney of this type at the club and will be repeated due to interest shown. Their opponents in the final match were Arthur Wildenberg and Ignatius Lenz. The tournament was conducted as a handicap affair.

has bowed decisively only to GBW (35-0).

Besides the two games involving Appleton teams, Green Bay West faces Preble in a title-flavored affair. Oshkosh and Manitowoc, the circuit's prime disappointments (having been rated second and third behind GBW) meet Saturday on the Ships' gridiron. Friday, Green Bay East and Southwest clash in a non-conference game fostered by the scheduling quirks of an 11-team circuit.

The Terrors will be backed by Homecoming enthusiasm in their bid to upset South at Witte Field. All graduates of the former combined AHS consider Appleton West their alma mater and they could help fill the stands in support of Dillon's silver anniversary Homecoming game. Kick-off time is 1:30 p.m.

Wallops South

In 1966, Dillon's last combined AHS team walloped South, 26-0. Dennis Wiesner is the only holdover Terror letterman from that engagement. He has scored one of the two Terror TDs this season.

South has 10 lettered returnees from that 1966 contest. They are led by quarterback Dick Zachow, running backs Dave Boll and John Picard and pass receiver Charlie Kometer. Zachow is second in FRVC passing, with 24 of 45 for 351 yards.

Kometer is third in receiving, with 13 for 179 yards. And. Boll ranks fourth in rushing with 320 yards.

Ade Dillon, Jr., a passing and running threat at quarterback, will head the AHS-W attack. He has scored once.

The East Patriots whose attacking prowess hasn't matched their defensive achievements, will try to get their offense untracked against North's Raiders, who have allowed only 5.4 points per game. North has blanked Preble, Fond du Lac and Manitowoc. The Raiders are accustomed to playing in close games, having scored 3-0 wins over both Fondy and Manty and having lost, 14-12, on to GBW on the final play of their opening game.

North is paced by passer Mike Krueger (32 of 88 for 412 yards); by top receivers in John Koehn (12 for 132 yards) and Mark Hildebrand; by a top rusher in Robb Sellinger (292-yard total); and by Dick Rasmussen whose field goals beat Fond du Lac and Manitowoc — by 3-0 counts. North whipped South, 34-13, last Saturday.

AHS-E's principal threats are halfback Cliff Tierney, who has scored all of the team's touchdowns and is tied for third in league scoring, with 24 points; fullback Tom Birk, who rushed for 65 yards against Fond du Lac, despite a wet field; and Craig Rusch, who is tied for sixth place in FRVC pass receiving, with eight for 130 yards. Dick Miller directs the East attack.

GBW leads the league in total offense by a mere yard average over South — 237 to 236. GBE has taken over the defense lead in defense — with a yield of 140 yards per game.

come out as "high" for the game with Marinette as they were for the Xavier contest. Ripp had praise for both the offensive and defensive units after the victory and said Wednesday that the game films showed "everyone did a good job and the guards in particular (Chuck Peeters and Jerry Van Handel) played well."

The Chuters rank second offensively and defensively in the league, with Premontre leading in both departments. St. John has gained 1,204 yards and allowed a total of 632. Premontre has gained 1,206 and held opponents to 613. Xavier is third both in offense and defense. Marinette is fifth offensively and sixth defensively.

"Oscar" Schuler, of St. John, has taken over second in rushing yardage with 422 yards in 95 carries. Tony Canadeo Jr., of Premontre leads with 432.

East Runners Down Seymour

SEYMOUR — Scott Schultz, a distance runner who starred for Appleton West's cross country and track teams last year, led Appleton East to its second cross country duel meet win of the year, Tuesday, over Seymour. The Patriots tallied 21 points to the Indians' 35.

Schultz was one of six East runners in the top 10. Seymour's Rickie Smits finished second, followed in order by Greg Foker, East; Wayne Bowers, East; Neil Gleason, East; Steve De Bruin, Seymour; Steve Marks, Seymour; Luke De Young, East; Larry Skinkis, Seymour; and Bob Davies, East.

East made it a clean sweep for the day, as the Pats' JV team defeated Seymour, 18-40. Bill King of East won with a clocking of 13 minutes, 39 seconds.

Wilt Joins 76ers For Exhibition Tilt

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — There must be a special affection between Wilt Chamberlain and this southeastern Pennsylvania city of 108,000.

Admitting his timing was off, Chamberlain played 36 minutes, scored 12 points and had a dozen rebounds, but the National Basketball Association champions lost to the New York Knicks 117-109 Wednesday night.

Dawson Shook Slump in Rain

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was nothing wrong with Len Dawson's scoring touch that three days of rain couldn't cure.

Dawson, forced into a passing game by steady rains which left the field muddy, hurled five touchdown passes in Kansas City's 41-0 rout of Miami last Sunday and was named the American Football League's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

There had been some concern in the Chiefs' camp when Dawson passed for only four TDs in the first three games this season. But the combination of rain and a Miami blitz changed all that.

"The field was muddy, bad for the running game," explained Dawson, who completed 13 of 23 for 250 yards including the five TDs. "They were blitzing, which meant man-for-man coverage on our receivers. So I threw."

Two TDs Apiece

Fred Arbanas and Otis Taylor each caught two TD passes from Dawson and it was the first Chiefs' TD — a 77-yard scoring pitch to Taylor on an impromptu play — that broke down the Dolphins for the day.

It was third down with one yard to go and Dawson sent Mike Garrett off tackle. The Dolphins diagnosed the play and Garrett was stopped cold. Dawson, seeing the Miami line gang-ing up on Garrett, called for the ball. As Garrett went down, he lateraled back to the quarterback.

"I was going to run. We only needed one yard," said Dawson. "I just glanced downfield and there was Otis, all by himself. He was so wide open, I just had to throw the ball."

Taylor, whose assignment on the play was to block the safety-man, had seen Garrett in trouble. "I started back to help out but when I heard Lenny calling for the ball, I just took off and ran downfield."

Polar Bears Win Harrier Meet

WAUPACA — The Hortonville High School Cross country team placed seven runners in the top 10 to score an easy victory in a triangular meet over host Waupaca and Amherst Tuesday afternoon.

Amherst's Don Hetzel took individual honors for the day, as he raced over the 2.2-mile course in 11 minutes, 46 seconds. Waupaca's Dale Rusch finished second.

Ralph Zerbie, of Hortonville, came home third to begin a parade of seven straight Polar Bear runners. He was followed in order by Steve Becher, Mike Breitrick, Jim Cuff, Bob Jentz, Frank Schroeder and Glen Van Handel. Don Gall, Waupaca, wound up 10th.

Will be Held at Long Lake Near Spooner

Wisconsin Weekend Host for World Series of Sport Fishing

MADISON — The eighth annual World Series of Sport Fishing, matching expert freshwater fishermen from all over the United States, will be held Saturday and Sunday, on Long Lake, 19 miles east of Spooner, Wisconsin.

Headquarters for the 1967 contest will be Bobby Schmidt's Resort, Long Lake.

Jack Crawford, Racine, was named Wisconsin State Champion and earned a berth in the World Series of Sport Fishing by winning the state's 13-day "fish-off" which ended Oct. 1. The state's "fish-off" was also held on Long Lake.

Crawford's catch of two walleyes and a northern pike, taken on the windy northern Wisconsin lake, also earned Crawford a 14-foot boat, motor and trophy proclaiming his prowess.

Won 14-foot Boat

Second spot in the "fish-off" went to Erling Nelson, Spooner, who landed a bass and a northern in the championship round. He won a 14-foot boat. Henry Hessing, Madison, hooked a northern good for third place and a prize of water skis and a spinning rod.

Largest fish registered during the "fish-off" was a 14-pound, 3-ounce northern taken by Dan Dinga, Rice Lake. Dinga was awarded a pair of water skis.

Wisconsin champion Crawford will compete with champions from the other 49 states, as well as invited world champions from past years and a variety of fishing and outdoor editors.

Glen Andrews, Rogers, Arkansas, the 1966 World Champion, will be on hand to defend his title.

Scoring is allowed on northern, walleye and bass only. Minimum size limits are 18, 13 and 10 inches, respectively. Northerns will be scored one point per ounce, walleyes will receive two points per ounce while bass are worth three points per ounce.

Each day's competition will be split into two rounds for all contestants. The opening round on each day will be from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. The final round each day will run from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Recognition of the 1967 World Series of Sport Fishing Champion will be made at the Awards Banquet, Sunday evening.

Beliveau Scores 400th Goal in Montreal Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean Beliveau's 400th career goal has gotten the new-look National Hockey League off to a familiar start.

Beliveau, Montreal's rangy center and longtime captain, became the third player in NHL history to reach the 400-goal plateau when he scored the winner in the Canadiens' 2-1 victory over the new Penguins at Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

It was one of five games which kicked off the expanded NHL's 1967-68 season. Elsewhere, Jean Ratelle scored two goals and assisted on two others as New York rapped Chicago 6-3, Detroit rallied for a 4-4 tie against Boston. Among the new teams, St. Louis and Minnesota battled to a 2-2 tie and California ripped Philadelphia 5-1.

Moral Victory

The first interdivision game matching new clubs with old ones was a moral victory for the newcomers. The Penguins, members of the expansion division, played the Canadiens on almost even terms.

Beliveau, who joined Detroit's great Gordie Howe and Montreal's immortal Maurice Richard in the NHL's 400-club, scored his historic goal in the second period, giving the Canadiens a 2-0 edge.

Gilles Tremblay, out killing a penalty, broke away and scored Montreal's first goal in the opening period. Andy Bathgate hit for Pittsburgh in the final 20 minutes.

"We got more than we bargained for," said Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake. "If Pittsburgh plays as hard as they did tonight, they'll win a lot of games, even against the six old teams."

Regents Suggest Towns, Schools Use Stadiums

MADISON (AP)—A suggestion that new sports arenas at four state universities be shared with surrounding towns and high schools was made today to the Board of Regents of the ni state schools.

"The university, the city and city high schools should use the stadium facilities as much as possible during the entire year," said Fred Jacoby, the system's commissioner of athletics.

The regents recently approved new $1 million stadiums for Oshkosh, Platteville and Whitewater, and an ice arena for Superior.

Jacoby said the stadiums could be used for music and theater productions as well as sports events.

12 Athletes Dropped From Marion Teams

MARION — Twelve members of Marion High School fall athletic teams have been dropped from their respective squads, it was confirmed today by school principal Robert Peterson.

Peterson said that 11 of the boys had been on the Marion football team and one on the cross country team. No names were disclosed.

The 12 athletes may again be eligible to compete in winter sports, if a special board later okays the move, according to Peterson.

Trip on Bridge Ends Surprisingly Quickly

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Guess what happened when Gary Pierce, 21, and his wife Pamela, 19, were driving slowly across the Long Beach pontoon bridge—50 feet above water?

The bridge divided to let a boat through.

Active Trading Lowers Market

Average Falls Below Support Level of 920 on Day Basis

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined mildly this afternoon in fairly active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 3.35 at 916.90.

This brought it a little below the heralded support line of 920 on an intra-day basis. If the decline held to the close it would signal a further drop to the 900-910 zone, according to market chartists.

Prices declined from the start but held the somewhat lower level without any build-up of selling pressure.

Banks and many other financial institutions were closed because of Columbus Day. Semholiday conditions prevailed.

Gains Outnumbered

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.1 at 332.3 with industrials down 2.2, rails off .2 and utilities off .4.

Aside from the precarious techinical position of the market, Wall Street was still concerned over the rising bond yields and higher interest rates, the mid-September increase in unemployment, and the income tax impasse.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange steadied after an early decline and displayed an irregular pattern in active trading somewhat slower than Wednesday's.

Leading American Scholar To Join Fox Valley Extension

A leading scholar of American government will join the University of Wisconsin (UW) Fox Valley Center faculty for a week beginning Monday.

Dr. James L. McCamy, professor of political science since 1947 at the UW Madison campus, will be the Center's first Knapp University Scholar. As a part of his visit, he will deliver an open-to-the-public lecture on American foreign policy at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Center lecture hall.

Dr. McCamy

McCamy worked as a journalist in Tennessee and Texas from 1923-29. He earned his doctorate in 1938 from the University of Chicago, and became assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in 1939.

For the next eight years, he served the government in various roles relating to economics.

Wrote Books

McCamy's research interests in propaganda and public opinion, foreign affairs and science's relationship to government have produced a number of articles and six books, including "The Administration of American Foreign Affairs," "Science and Public Administration," and "Conduct of the New Diplomacy."

Besides his public lecture, McCamy is scheduled for other activities at the Center, including lectures to economics, political science and sociology classes, interviews and discussions with students and a faculty colloquium.

At noon Wednesday he will speak on "The Future of Man" at the luncheon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis Club at Ridgeway Golf Club.

Knapp scholars are chosen from senior faculty members of the UW Madison and Milwaukee campuses and provided salary support for one semester in the form of fellowships. Those selected divide their time between conducting their own research and in visits to UW Center System campuses.

Rec Department Saves Money on Summer Workers

KAUKAUNA — Members of the health and recreation committee of the common council have been informed that the city recreation department was able to realize a savings this summer through participation in the Aids to Higher Education program.

According to a letter received from Fred Barribeau, guidance director at Kaukauna High School, the recreation department hired two college girls for the summer and between them they earned over $1,000. Cost to the city was slightly over $100, with 85 per cent of their salary paid by the state and federal government.

Aims of the program are for communities to supply summer jobs for college students attending -state-supported institutions. Kaukauna participated in the state program with Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and next year the program will be expanded to other state universities.

Barribeau cited James Gertz, recreation director, who took the initiative in hiring the students and Julian Bichler, school superintendent, and Thomas Nytes, business manager, for participating in the program.

Florida Bound Family Aided in 'Friendly City'

KAUKAUNA — The Salvation Army and Relief Director James Gertz came to the assistance of a needy family Tuesday after police made known their plight.

The family was driving a 14-year-old car through Kaukauna when they found themselves stranded without gasoline or money. They stopped at the police station and police contacted the Salvation Army and were authorized to have the father, mother and two daughters spend the night at a local motel.

That agency also made arrangements for the family to have a hearty breakfast in the morning. Gertz was able to fill the gas tank for the family to permit them to continue their travel.

Investigation revealed that the family had lost practically everything they owned while living in Fairbanks, Alaska, during the recent floods and had decided to pick up stakes and head for N. Miami, Fla., from where they originated.

Authorities were unsure of how the family expected to complete the journey, but they were determined to continue after expressing appreciation for the "friendly" treatment in the "Friendly City."

Legion to Buy Score Board for High School

LITTLE CHUTE — Members of the American Legion voted Monday night to purchase a new score board for the St. John High School gym.

Martin Jansen, state commander, was on hand to present the Kennedy trophy to Harold Van Dyke, post historian, for the best history submitted in the state. Van Dyke in turn presented the trophy to the Post of the trophy case. The organization also won the state Pendill trophy for community betterment.

Honorable mention was given for programs in Americanism, diversified sports and youth work. The Dutch Girls Drum and Bugle Corps won third place in state competition.

Authorization was given Boy Scout Troop 51 to use the Legion lot to sell Christmas trees and approval was given to purchase new gloves for the Legion firing squad. A membership report indicated the Post has 638 members including 34 Vietnam veterans.

NOTES and NOTIONS

John L. Faustien

A few hunches went wrong, and the usual number of upsets spiced last week's football program, but this writer managed his highest percentage of the year (.771, on 27 right, 8 wrong, 2 ties). The season-long log stands at 113-42-8, for 72.9 per cent.

* * *

Packers over Minnesota — The Bays usually had trouble when Fran Tarkenton led the Vikings, but "Tark" will be conspicuously absent. Like most teams, Minnesota will probably play its best ball against Green Bay — but it won't be good enough.

Wisconsin over Pittsburgh — The Badgers, it now appears, will be hard-pressed to equal the 3-win total produced by the final Milt Bruhn-coached UW team. They finally meet a foe of about equal capability and can win — but only if they play as well as they did in the first half of the Michigan State game.

Lawrence over Cornell — There's never a dull moment for the Vikes, and the middle game of their demanding 3-week grind (St. Olaf, Cornell and Ripon) will test them to the utmost. Lawrence has the momentum and the weapons to stay unbeaten.

Sheboygan North over Appleton East — The hard-to-budge Patriots are capable of forcing every foe to the limit, but the title-minded Raiders have enough power to win.

Sheboygan South over Appleton West — Last week's bye gave the Terrors a chance to beef up their offense, and they could make it interesting for the Redmen. South, however, has the manpower edge.

Xavier over St. Mary — This "battle for survival" promises a second straight barn-burner for Goodland Field. This could go either way, but the Xavier defense is due for a comeback and could slow down the explosive Zephyrs.

Fox Lutheran over Onalaska Lutheran — The undermanned Foxes have made some notable showings against substantial odds, and that same attitude could pay off in victory this week.

St. John over Marinette — There's danger of a little letdown in the St. John camp after the historic victory over Xavier, but the title urge is too strong for the Chuters to stub their toes on Marinette.

Neenah over Menasha — Menasha has the offense this year to make this Twin Cities battle intriguing. But the more consistent Rockets have enough point-scoring and point-preventing savvy to forge a win.

Kaukauna over Shawano — The Ghosts appear geared to continue their bid for a strong 1967 finish.

Kimberly over New London — The Bulldogs have pulled one major surprise and could do it again. But the Papermaker defense looks too tough.

Two Rivers over Clintonville — The Raiders, who have shown an amazing about-face since their misadventure against Neenah, seem to have enough impetus to turn back the Trucker invasion.

Other NFL games — Chicago over Detroit, Los Angeles over Baltimore, Dallas over New Orleans, Pittsburgh over New York, Cleveland over St Louis, San Francisco over Philadelphia, Washington over Atlanta.

Other MC games — Ripon over Monmouth, St. Olaf over Coe, Beloit over Carleton, Grinnell over Knox.

Other FRVC games — Oshkosh over Manitowoc, Green Bay West over Preble.

Little Nine Conference — Shiocton over Omro, Brillion over Hilbert, Wrightstown over Denmark, Freedom over Winneconne, Hortonville over Reedsville.

Other games — Seymour over Bonduel, Kohler over Chilton, Manawa over Weyauwega, Lourdes over Springs, Premontre over Pennings.

To Your Good Health

Different Cardiograms Seek Varied Answers

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Have you ever heard of three cardiograms showing heart damage (different machines and different people making the tests) and a heart catheter test showing good heart and lungs? If so, please tell me why. Mrs. H.A.B.

Yes, this is quite possible.

heart muscle, as revealed by electrical characteristics of the muscle.

Catheterization examines the heart from a quite different aspect. It measures the amount of oxygen in the blood at different places in the heart. Departure from normal readings can indicate such faults as a heart valve which does not open or close properly; some difficulty in the passage of blood to the lungs and back; or a gap in the tissues which separate the various chambers of the heart. In this last instance, blood may be recirculated through some of the chambers instead of progressing normally from one chamber to the next. Obviously this means that the heart has to do more work than should be required for equivalent total output.

You might think of it this way. Imagine that you have a water pump at your summer cottage. The flow of water begins to dwindle. Why? Is it because of faulty valves or leaks in the pump? Or is it because the motor (corresponding to the heart muscle) has slowed down?

In your case, Mrs. H.A.B., the cardiograms show damage to the "motor" but the catheterization shows that the pump itself is not leaking.

For you, Mrs. B., I think a reading of my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," would be of considerable benefit, since it explains the mechanics of the heart's operation as a basis for understanding the various types of damage which the heart may sustain, and then explains what can be done to repair the damage.

Indeed, I wish that everyone, whether he has had a heart attack or not, would make it a point to understand the basic operation of the heart. Anyone can get a copy of "How to Take Care of Your Heart" by sending a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do doctors hedge so about denouncing smoking, and about advising people to quit or not to start, when the evidence of damage to health is so obvious?

Is it because so many doctors smoke and don't have the willpower to quit, or if they have quit as I understand you have, they feel it's a personal choice?

Anything harmful to an individual affects society in general harmfully. If I were a doctor I would unequivocally advocate non-smoking with no ifs, ands or buts. — Mrs. P.M.

How many people ever quit smoking because a doctor told them to? All you can do is lay down the facts, which I try to do, and let people decide for themselves that they're better off if they don't smoke. That's why I quit. — I saw the evidence.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes the eyes to swell? I wake up with bags, or almost blisters, under my eyes. I am 42. Does menopause have anything to do with it? — Mrs. S.K.

Menopause in itself does not. The soft, thin-skinned tissues under the eyes may swell readily if excess fluid is being retained. This can occur from many causes, ranging from crying or fatigue to low thyroid function or disease of liver or heart. In the latter cases, other symptoms would be present. Swelling of the eyes alone, is not indicative of any one type of illness.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Finley to Move A's to Oakland If AL Approves

Owner Hopeful of Getting Six Votes At League Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — It's Westward Ho! to Oakland, Calif., for Charles O. Finley and his Kansas City Athletics baseball franchise—if he can collect six votes from other American League owners to make the shift next year.

Finely announced Wednesday that he has decided on Oakland for his A's, who were shifted to Kansas City from Philadelphia in 1955.

"I have informed the other owners in the league of my intentions," he said. "It will take six votes in addition to our own to get permission. I'm not sure I've got them. I have no guarantee or assurance at all. I'm just hopeful."

The league owners will meet in Chicago Wednesday and Finley said he was hopeful the move will be approved then.

Finley, who said he made up his mind on Oakland only Tuesday, said he had advised the governor of Washington and mayor of Seattle of his decision.

"I told them," he said, "that they don't have the facilities today in Seattle for major league sports but that the Pacific Northwest is a great area and will be wonderful for baseball in the future."

If the Athletics, last place in the American League race this season, get permission to move, Kansas City as well as Seattle will be given consideration in any future expansion plans.

Terry Stone Leader for Total Offense

Has Passed for 1,032 Yards in 4 New Mexico Games

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — More than 18 months ago Terry Stone cleaned out his football locker at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., and came home with a stomach ailment.

A few months later, University of New Mexico Football Coach Bill Weeks was in his office when Stone walked in and asked for the Lobo quarterbacking job.

Today, the 6-foot-1, 190-pound junior quarterback is atop the nation's passers and first in total offense with the philosophy: "If we throw two times in the next game and won, I'd be happy."

Better Record

Weeks, Stone and the rest of the Lobos are working on ways to better New Mexico's 1-3 record, in which Stone completed 77 of 167 passes, a .461 percentage, for 1,032 yards and six touchdowns.

"The pressure of being the nation's leading passer hasn't bothered me," he said. "The only thing that bothers me is that we're losing. I'd feel a lot better if we were winning.

"When we put four (good) quarters together, I feel sorry for the team that we put it together against," he said.

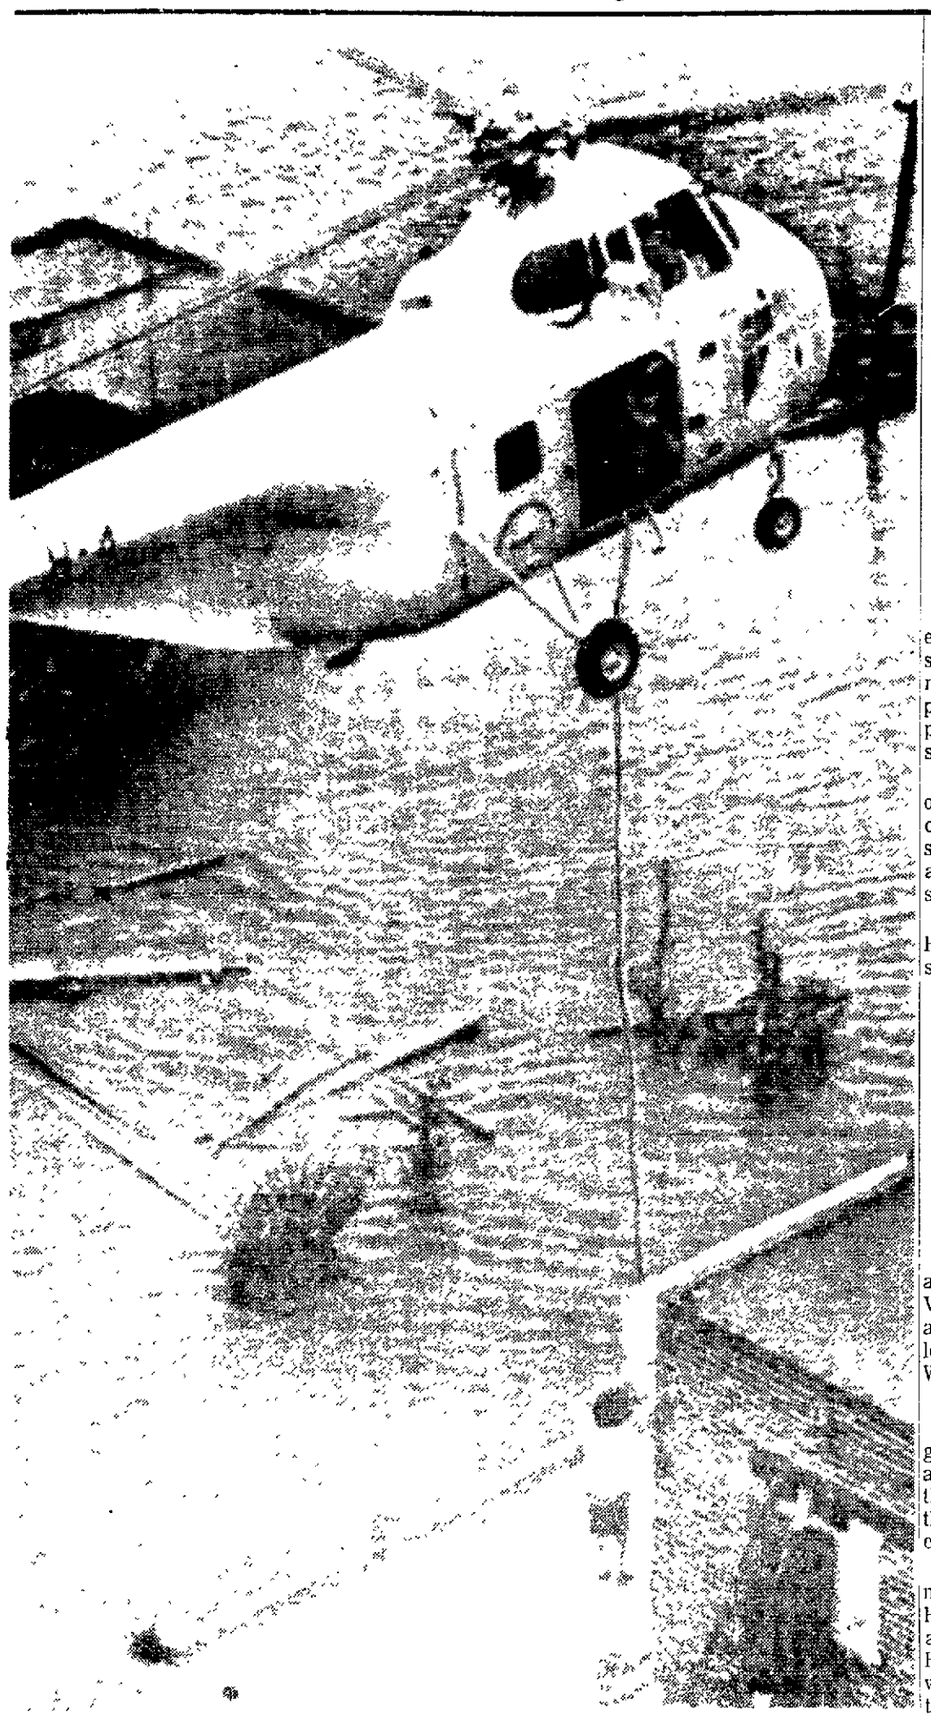
Direct Talks With Ho Are Offered by Thieu



An Argentine Air Force helicopter lowers a sling to hoist a woman stranded on her house roof by a flood near Buenos Aires Wednesday. The flood, following three days of torrential rain, has caused 12 deaths and forced 40,000 persons in the suburbs of Buenos Aires to flee their homes. (AP Wirephoto)

Proposal To be Sent To Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu will send a letter to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh proposing that they meet to talk peace, a spokesman for Thieu said today.

Thieu's letter will offer a one-week pause in the bombing of North Vietnam if Hanoi shows some willingness to talk about peace, the spokesman said.

"Thieu would only meet with Ho Chi Minh," the spokesman said, "but he will not meet with any lesser official. If the North Vietnamese propose a meeting at a lower level, we will send a lower-level official of our own. We will meet at any level."

Ho

After Inauguration

He added that the letter would go out shortly after Thieu is inaugurated Oct. 30, probably through diplomatic channels, though he said it might be delivered via the press.

"The letter will propose a meeting between Saigon and Hanoi at a time and place agreeable to both," he said. "If Hanoi agrees to meet, Thieu will offer a bombing pause of the North of one week."

The spokesman said even if Hanoi did not agree to a meeting, the bombing pause would go into effect if the North Vietnamese "show their good will by stopping the infiltration of the South or stop making trouble in the South."

However, the bombing pause would last only one week and no longer unless some type of meeting is arranged, the spokesman said.

Campaign Promise

Thieu announced in August during the presidential campaign that he would offer a bombing pause if Hanoi showed some indication of willingness to meet with representatives of his government. He later said he would make the offer a week or 10 days after his inauguration.

This is the first time the government has announced that a letter actually will be sent to Ho Chi Minh offering the bombing pause. The letter could go through a third country or be delivered by a member of the International Control Commission, whose Indian, Polish and

Judge Turns Over New Leif on Columbus Day

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno says he has new evidence that it was the Italians, not the Vikings, who discovered America.

"I have traveled up and down the Atlantic seaboard and never did I find any evidence of smorgasbords being established here until the latter half of the 19th century," he said Wednesday on the eve of Columbus Day in a humor-filled talk.

"On the other hand I found from Caribbean shores to Newfoundland coasts overwhelming evidence of the ruins of pizza foundries which go back to the latter half of the 15th century."

Chance for Praise

Musmanno, who rarely misses a chance to praise Columbus said, "I always worship at the shrine of truth and fairness. If I had found any evidence that the Vikings got here before Columbus, I would admit it."

"It has been asserted that Leif Ericson discovered America," Musmanno said, "but in the whole book of authentic history there is not one leif to establish that Ericson ever caught a glimpse of American shores.

"In fact, I know that Ericson never got here because I got it straight from the Norse's mouth."

A final proof that it was Columbus, Musmanno said, is the national popularity of spaghetti.

"This selection could never have been the result of whim or arbitrariness," he said. "The spaghetti represents the rigging of the ships of the 'Santa Maria,' the 'Nina' and the 'Pinta'."

"The meatballs are symbols of the anchors of those ships because the original anchors were spheroids so they could be used as cannon balls when it became necessary to fight the Vikings who, after all, were pirates!"

Postage Rates Would Increase

House Okays Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, while pressuring President Johnson to cut spending if he wants a tax hike, passed a federal pay raise bill which two key members say involves too much spending.

Postal rate increases would finance some of the raises.

The bill would give postal employes a 6 per cent raise and all other federal workers a 4.5 per cent pay hike. The President had recommended a 4.5 per cent raise for all civilian employes. Under the bill, there would be additional raises in the following two fiscal years.

Urged Rejection

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader; and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, urged rejection of the provision for second and third-year increases. But 166 Democrats and 45 Republicans combined against 64 Democrats and 135 Republicans to defeat the GOP-led move to strip this provision, 211 to 199.

The cost of the pay hike is estimated at $1.9 billion for next year and $2.6 billion the following year.

The bill's postal rate increases affect all classes of service and include one-cent boosts on first class letters and two-cent jumps for air mail.

The bill passed by the House would increase postal rates eventually by $890 million annually, but congressional delay in passing the measure has cut substantially the fiscal 1968 benefit.

If the Senate acts in time to get the bill to the President by Dec. 1, and he signs it, the first-class and air-mail raises would take effect in January, along with the third-class hikes and the first stage of second-class increases. This would mean an additional $435 million in the current fiscal year, well under the $628.8 million cost of the pay bill this year.

Postage stamps would go to six cents for first class letters and five cents for post cards, while air-mail rates would go to 10 cents for letters and eight cents for post cards.

Second-class rates would go up 21 per cent over three years. But an amendment adopted Tuesday would add an extra surcharge to some 45 publications, including popular magazines, which each mail more than 500,000 copies.

Third-class rates would go from the present minimum of 2.875 cents to 3.8 cents, a 32 per cent hike.

The pay raise and rate measures, originally separate legislation, were combined by the House Post Office Committee to minimize a threat of presidential veto. But the chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., expressed hope the two proposals could be split again. However, he added that parliamentary considerations may force the Senate to agree to a combined measure.

Post Office officials told a House Appropriations subcommittee a drastic curtailment of mail service would result if the department's budget is cut by 5 per cent. The subcommittee is considering ways of reducing government spending by reconsidering appropriations already made.

The postal officials said such a cut would mean cancellation of Saturday mail deliveries, a reduction of city business deliveries to once daily and rural deliveries to three a week. Post office construction would be halted and about 1,000 small post offices would be closed, they added.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday that Army Pfc. Ronald S. Sandel of Thorp, Wis., has been killed in action in Vietnam.

British-Cypriot Airliner

All 66 Aboard Feared Lost as Jet Dives Into Mediterranean

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A British-Cypriot Comet jetliner crashed into the Mediterranean off the southwest coast of Turkey today and all 66 persons aboard are presumed killed, a spokesman for the British Royal Air Force announced.

Operated by British European Airways for Cyprus Airways, the Comet 4 jet was on a flight from London and Athens to Nicosia with 59 passengers and a crew of seven.

The plane left London Wednesday night and stopped briefly before dawn in Athens. It crashed into the sea about an hour later near the Dodecanese island of Kastellorizon, a spokesman for BEA said.

A BEA spokesman in London said most of the passengers were businessmen or vacationers and that some children were aboard. The three-man flying crew was British and the two stewards and two stewardesses were Cypriots. The spokesman said 32 passengers boarded the plane at London and 27 in Athens.

It was the second crash in five months of a passenger plane bound for Cyprus. A chartered Swiss Britannia turbo-prop crashed in April as it was landing on the island in a thunderstorm, killing 126 persons. Most were German and British tourists.

The BEA spokesman said the Comet sent no distress signal before going down today. "It just disappeared," he said. The weather was reported clear at the time.

Air Force Alerted

Naval and passenger ships in the area were alerted and the U.S. Air Force base in Athens sent a plane to Katellorizon to join the search for survivors.

Five RAF planes were conducting the air search. An RAF spokesman said while the pilots spotted wreckage, they were not sure it was from the plane and no survivors were seen.

An RAF air-sea rescue launch was sent to the scene of the wreckage. One plane carried a para-medical team to drop into the sea if any survivors were found.

Pentagon's December Draft Call Set at 18,000

The December call represented a drop of nearly 4,000 from November and was slightly higher than the October quota of 17,000.

The Pentagon said the men to be drafted in December will be inducted in the first half of the month "to avoid their entrance during the holiday season."

Reuther's Broad Smiles Start Rumors End of Strike Is Near

Major Breakthrough Possible By Tonight in UAW Walkout

DETROIT (AP) —A broadly smiling Walter P. Reuther reported new contract maneuvering at strikebound Ford Motor Co. today amidst reports that a major break in the 36-day-old strike was near.

The demeanor of the UAW president was that of a happy man —like that of a labor leader who had just won a sweetened contract offer from the company. It was in sharp contrast with his appearance the last few days when he had a stern, unsmiling countenance.

Reuther joined Ken Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, in a top-level bargaining strategy session. Indicating the importance of the meeting, a guard was posted at the door leading to the quarters in the Ford company building temporarily assigned to the union team.

There was no indication when the company and union bargainers would get together in joint session and both the company and union contingent maintained a news blackout.

Despite the blackout, veteran newsmen said there were indications that some movement had developed in negotiations and that the tieup of the nation's second largest auto firm might be nearing an end.

The strike, which has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, started Sept. 6 at expiration of a three-year contract and a two-month period of fruitless negotiations.

The company has made only one public response to broad union demands, offering an immediate 13-cent-an-hour wage boost, plus an additional 2.8 per cent next year and the year after.

The union is seeking, in a contract that will set an industry pattern, what it calls the most ambitious list of demands it has ever made. It includes parity for Canadian workers, guaranteed annual income, a big wage boost, pension improvements and an extra wage boost for skilled workers.

No Dollar Value

Reuther has put no dollar value on the demands. But he has said 80 cents an hour over three years in both wages and fringe benefits would not be enough.

Marchers Parade 45th Day in Row

MILWAUKEE (AP) — About 100 open housing marchers paraded through Milwaukee's Inner Core Wednesday night in the 45th straight day of demonstrations.

They marched to the home of Milwaukee's only Negro alderman, Mrs. Dale Phillips, to show their support of her open housing ordinance now being considered by the Common Council.

$2.5 Million Given to Marquette University

Men's Dormitory on Milwaukee Campus Named for Victor McCormick of Green Bay

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The largest single, private gift received by Marquette University, estimated at $2.5 million was presented Wednesday by Victor McCormick, an alumnus and Green Bay attorney.

In announcing the gift, the Very Rev. John P. Raynor, S. J., president of Marquette, said a new 12-story men's dormitory being built on the campus had been named Victor McCormick Hall.

Victor McCormick

McCormick, 68, received his law degree from Marquette in 1922. He is a former member of the university's board of governors and its athletic board. In 1945 he gave the school a large piece of land for use as a football practice field which was named in his honor.

Alumnus of Year

He was named Marquette's alumnus of the year in 1952 and was made an honorary member of the board of regents last year.

After graduation, McCormick returned to Green Bay to practice law. He was a partner in the firm of Minahan and McCormick when he retired in 1947 to devote full time to business interests.

He is a director of banks in Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Luxemburg and is a member of the lay advisory board of St. Norbert College in De Pere.

Government Rules on Her Race

White Girl Too Dark

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sandra Laing is the girl that no schools want.

Her parents won an 18-month-long struggle to have her officially declared white, only to discover they can't find a school that wants her.

Angry parents of Sheepmoor, a tiny town in eastern Transvaal Province, have threatened to remove their children from the local white primary school if 11-year-old Sandra is sent there as directed by the Education Department.

Sandra was going to boarding school in the country town of Piet Retief 18 months ago. Parents of other pupils objected to her presence, children taunted her and eventually she was sent home by the school authorities.

Subsequently she was declared colored—that is, mulatto—by a government-appointed board, even though her parents are white. Then a change in the law provided that descent and not appearance is to be the deciding factor in borderline cases. She was reclassified white.

Feared Scorn

Sandra's storekeeper father, Abraham Laing, decided not to send her back to the same boarding school because of the scorn he felt she would meet.

He approached a number of convents, but they turned him down. Some said they had no vacancies, others said the Afrikaans-speaking girl would find the English-speaking situation in the convents difficult.

Then the Education Department notified Laing he must apply for Sandra to be admitted to the Sheepmoor school, the nearest their home.

Principal L. Dreyer said: "This is a terrible situation. I have my instructions from the Education Department to admit Sandra Laing. My hands are tied.

"However, I have reason to believe that, if this happens, most of the parents (of the 53 other children at the school) will remove their children."

Mrs. E. Van Tonder, mother of two pupils at the school and a member of the School Committee, commented: "The day Sandra Laing sets foot in the school, my children will be taken home. And they will stay home."

United Calumet Makes Smoke

Oft criticized and highly controversial, Harold Froehlich's bill to merge Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie Counties into one "super" county has already produced one beneficial side effect.

Oddly enough the offshoot of the Froehlich measure is one dedicated to the bill's ultimate defeat. It is a unique coalition of Calumet County communities.

With an apprehensive eye to the Fox Cities complex, which they have been led to believe aims to devour them and wipe out their identity, Calumet communities were moved to quick action to protect their interests. Chilton Chamber of Commerce officials were the prime movers in calling a general meeting of all civic and governmental agencies of the county to map strategy in battling the Froehlich measure. Participating were chambers of commerce, businessmen's leagues, advancement associations and county, town, village and city officials.

The result will be an organization embracing the entire county and with county-wide representation. A slogan was even selected. "A United Calumet Makes Smoke." Calumet — somewhat inappropriate for the occasion — is an Indian word meaning "peace pipe."

Threats of encroachment, real or imagined, on Calumet boundaries accomplished an unprecedented unity in the county. Ancient inter-community rivalries vanished and community leaders worked together.

Authors of the coalition had the foresight to realize that more could be accomplished than fighting the consolidation bill and in its basic objectives stipulated that future projects would be for general county betterment.

It is hoped that these precepts will not be forgotten after the county merger controversy has subsided.

Six Students Step Forward

Many noteworthy things will be accomplished this year as Appleton High School-East and Appleton High School-West operate as separate institutions for the first time, including the establishment of athletic traditions. Cross-town rivalry is expected and natural, and proper so long as it stays within bounds and is displayed on the athletic field and in other extracurricular activities.

The action of the unknown vandals who painted a large "West" on the newly constructed public address system box at East's athletic field recently is an unfortunate example of the immature thinking which some teen-agers equate with school spirit. But the mature action of the six West students who offered to paint over the damage is a happy answer to the situation.

Other young people could do well to imitate this example. The six students are to be commended not only for their concern with public property, but also because they took the initiative in doing their part to help fight vandalism. Such leadership is necessary if the increasing amount of vandalism which has plagued this area is to stop.

Teens often have a legitimate complaint that the two per cent of their age group who are delinquent receive more publicity than the vast majority who never get into trouble. But they have no reason to gripe if they do nothing to stop or repair such vandalism. The six students from West have shown that some teen-agers are ready to do more than sit by and only complain while their age group and school receives a bad name.

Indonesia Breaks With Red China

With its suspension of diplomatic relations with Red China, Indonesia has taken another step away from the Communist influence that permeated its government when Sukarno was in control.

Ever since the ruthless defeat of the attempted Communist coup in Indonesia, that country has been moving toward both more representative government and sensible economic policies. It has not and will not be easy. Financial affairs were in a seriously deteriorated state when the Communists were defeated and Sukarno deposed some months later. Efforts to control inflation and impose austerity measures can never be popular.

But the antagonisms in Indonesia have appeared to be against Sukarno and the Red Chinese who were charged with complicity in the Communist plot. Indonesian students in particular have demonstrated against the Chinese and have attacked the Chinese Embassy in Jakarta four times in the last eighteen months. Two Chinese who were charged with shooting at the rioters were deported last August and earlier two embassy officials had been sent home because they allegedly were engaged in subversive activities.

In return, the Chinese have demonstrated and attacked the Indonesian Embassy in Peking. Clearly the antagonisms have grown.

Whether or not there is any real danger still of a Communist take-over in Indonesia remains to be seen. At the time of the abortive coup, the Communist Party in Indonesia was the largest in Asia except for the Chinese. The Communists were roundly defeated in Indonesia some years ago but they gradually came back into strength particularly because of Sukarno's efforts to include them or at least to ignore them.

The difference now is the opposition of the President, General Suharto, and his chief aides all of whom now are moderates politically. But presumably an organization as active as the Indonesian Communist Party was only two years ago still has some influence. As so often happens in the newly independent nations, the struggle may be in personal ambition rather than ideology.

Peking of course will shrug off the break. It had previously protested the attacks upon its Jakarta embassy but Indonesia rejected the protest on the grounds that the Chinese attacks on the Indonesian Embassy were far more severe. An idea of the lack of trust is indicated by the Indonesian announcement that those in the Chinese Embassy will remain under guard until the Indonesian diplomats reach Hong Kong safely.

The move further isolates China from the rest of the world. If there are any moderates still with influence in China — and the continued struggles internally indicate that there are — they will have one more piece of evidence against the effective leadership of Mao Tse-tung.

Third of University Income Comes From Private, Public Grants

BY GEORGE FIELD

MADISON — The University of Wisconsin last year received more money in gifts and grants from private sources — alumni and other individuals, corporations, and foundations — than it got in state tax appropriations for all operations just a decade earlier. Among all of public higher education, the University of Wisconsin consistently ranks third — behind the giant California system and the rich University of Michigan — in the amount of private donations it gets every year.

Field

Wisconsin taxpayers usually are surprised to find out that only a little more than a third of university operating money comes from state taxes. A little more than a third comes from student fees and other university earnings. A little less than a third comes from private gifts and federal sources.

The University of Wisconsin is approaching the point where more than half of its operational funds will come from outside the state of Wisconsin.

* * *

NON-RESIDENT DONORS

This is already true of private giving. It has been estimated that more than 80 per cent of the private gifts and grants to the University come from out of state.

Of its gifts and grants from private donors, the university receives almost a third from the great foundations. The Ford Foundation and the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation are the major donors in this category, but sizable sums are received from Carnegie, Rockefeller, and other foundations including the Johnson Foundation in Racine and the Rennebohm Foundation in Madison.

Corporations supply a little less than foundations to university support, and again the big national corporations are the greatest donors, though a broad array of Wisconsin corporations provide annual support for research, fellowships, and other vital needs.

The remainder comes from alumni and other individuals, and various associations and groups. One of Wisconsin's fast growing sources of private support is the annual giving program of Wisconsin alumni, operated by the University of Wisconsin Foundation. That foundation also conducted the campaigns for such important additions as the Elvehjem Art Center, now under construction on the Madison campus, the Milwaukee campus student union, and the Wisconsin Center which houses the university's heavy Madison program of institutes, short courses, and conferences. Other agencies which play key roles in private fund-raising for the university are the Wisconsin Alumni Association, and the Memorial Union Building Association.

This article on the changing financial base of the University of Wisconsin was submitted by a vice president of the institution as one of a series of guest columns for John Wyngaard, Madison correspondent who is on vacation.

MANY GIFTS SMALL

The vast majority of gifts are relatively small ones, but some of the bequests left to the university are large. The Vilas Trust, now totalling $13,164,595 was created by William F. Vilas, pioneer Wisconsin lumberman who died in 1908; the Knapp Fund, which now amounts to $5,502,247.84, was given by Kemper K. Knapp, UW alumnus and Illinois attorney who died in 1944. The largest single gift ever received from a living individual is the Nielson Tennis Stadium, now under construction on the Madison campus at a cost of more than $2 million. A. C. Nielson, who is financing the building, is an alumnus and Illinois businessman.

When gifts to the University are accepted by the Board of Regents, they are held separate from other state funds, though they are deposited in the state treasury and spent under the watchful eyes of state auditors. They do not, in any way, replace state or federal funds. Rather, they supplement the vital governmental appropriations and — in a real sense — make the difference between a good university and a great one. They provide the flexible "enterprise funds," which enable the University to move quickly ahead when opportunity comes. State appropriations must be budgeted for two to three years ahead of the time they will be spent.

And they are never sufficient to enable the university to do all the things which need doing. Private gifts and grants go a long way toward keeping the university in a leadership position in the academic world, and assuring the young people of Wisconsin the highest possible quality of education.

Revolt of the Squares Reflects Negative Temper Abroad in Land

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — A fractious spirit is abroad in the land. Everywhere there is apparent a disposition to be ornery and contentious, argumentative and negative.

No doubt the hippies are the most conspicuous example of the taste for being against. But they are not alone. There is also going on a revolt of the squares. And nothing demonstrates it better than the evolution of political opposition over the past few months.

Now the President's request for a 10 per cent surcharge on taxes has become embattled. And a position of srident defiance is being taken by a man normally noted for responsible cooperation — Congressman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas.

CARICATURE OF CONGRESSMAN

Mr. Mills is almost a caricature of the regular congressman. He is a small town boy (Kensett, Ark.) who made good through specialization in a hard subject (taxation) and help from the powers (the late Speaker Sam Rayburn). As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, he has shown himself to be conservative and cautious, but ready to help Presidents on such matters as taxes and trade, not to mention Medicare.

Kraft

But one thing preoccupies Mills more than the interests of the President. That is the temper of the House, and of his committee. And on the 10 per cent tax surcharge, the temper, following the temper of the country, has been very negative.

A good many ordinary members have opposed the increase on the simple grounds that their constituents are already being taxed too much. The Republican leadership, which seemed to be hooked on the tax as an anti-inflationary measure, slipped off the hook by demanding heavy cuts in spending for domestic programs.

Rather than accept such cuts, a great many liberal Democrats have decided to be against the tax rise. For example, at a recent meeting of the liberal Democratic study group with Vice President Hubert Humphrey only one member, Richard Bolling, showed himself favorable to the increase. The group as a whole even decided not to hear Walter Heller, the former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, argue the case for a tax increase.

In this situation, Mr. Mills has been acting out in a dramatic fashion hostility toward the tax increase. He led his committee in a vote to table the measure pending spending cuts, without even giving a special hearing to Treasury Sec. Henry Fowler and Budget Director Charles Schultze who were standing by. Over last weekend he took up a position that would postpone a tax increase until after a basic re-examination of expenditure composition of the nation's Gross National Product — something clearly not in the cards for this year.

TEMPER IS NEGATIVE

A good many different theses have been advanced to explain this behavior. It is said that Mr. Mills has not been sufficiently coddled by the White House — a most unlikely proposition with a President who tends to overdo his cultivation of key congressmen. It has been said that he fears opposition at home. But that is not the story which comes out of Little Rock, his home district.

As far more likely explanation is that Mr. Mills is simply reflecting the temper of the country and the Congress. He is demonstrating his basic affinity with the members of his committee and the House of Representatives. Indeed, he is so much in step with prevailing opinion, that some members, mindful of the failing powers of Speaker John McCormack, see the possibility that Mills is making himself generally popular as a prelude to a bid for the leadership.

In the long run, having shown his good faith as a man for cutting expenditures, Mills may be in a position to lead a fight for the President's tax increase. But that reversion to form can probably not take place in this session of Congress. For the prevailing mood here is the same on taxes as it is on Vietnam and programs for the cities. It is negative.

Need Oneida Bridge Now, Not in Five Years, Writer Says

Editor, Post-Crescent,

Subject: On building Oneida Street bridge immediately

First, we need now, not a two lane, but a four lane.

Trying to cross the river now to connect with one of Wisconsin's largest hospitals, or try to go to three of our golf links, or to follow Highway 10 to the south or to the lake is a hazardous task.

Trying to cross Memorial bridge every day you are backed up nearly a mile by stalled traffic. Simply because we are putting 4-way traffic on to a 2-way traffic bridge.

Try crossing the present makeshift Oneida bridge. It's a tough job! It curves and twists over innumerable railroad tracks where you are held up by trains of two different railroads. Then try to cross the canal when the bridge is up. Then up another curving hill.

East College Avenue bridge is too far out and inadequate. Its traffic has increased so that it can hardly take care of it . . . two lanes from 4-lane streets.

Why wait 5 years for something we need now. Few people remember, but the state had the plans ready to use — 30 years ago. They only have to be modified to date. First of all this bridge must be 4-lane. The two high level bridges we now have receive traffic from 4 lane streets on to 2 lane bridges (see what happened at Butte Des Morts 41 state where they tried running 4-lane traffic over a 2-lane bridge).

I say buy the church property at once, and make immediate plans to modify the original plans to the present needs for modern travel and not wait. The state and county will pay its share as originally planned because of Highway 10.

It won't take five years to build. It can be built in one year and it won't cost $5 million; it would cost less than $2 million.

Lists Reasons Why Motorists About to Lose Right to Drive

Editor, Post-Crescent,

Why is the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin trying to pass a Traffic Safety Bill which will take the right to drive from thousands of Wisconsin Drivers? Why are they in the middle of a long fight over Safety Checks for cars that will in the end cost the driver from $50 to $100 to get his license because of private dealers doing the work? I'll tell you why:

Because of the people young and old who don't cross the street at corners and who think nothing of walking when the sign says don't walk.

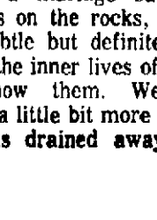
Premarital Training Is Our Critical Need

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I have neither the space nor the profundity to discuss the moral and religious aspects of divorce; but I should like briefly to point out the need for our society to pay greater attention to premarital training.



Harris

Some friends of ours in the East have recently separated are starting a divorce action. Both are splendid people; she is a professional musician and he is a college teacher. Everyone thought that their marriage was as harmonious as any we could name.

They have no offspring, so the problem here is not complicated by the fact of "hurting the children." Both are young enough to start over again, and the separation was as "amicable" as such matters can be.

But, in a deeper sense, their divorce is disturbing to everyone who knows them. All our lives are made up of intertwined strands: The people we know and like and respect form a sort of spiritual netting for our own falls. We look to them for support and stability.

When a mariage such as this goes on the rocks, something subtle but definite happens to the inner lives of those who know them. We are shaken, a little bit more of our faith has drained away, another pillar seems to have crashed in the structure of society we have made.

The harm inflicted by divorce is most dramatically seen in the case of children, or of the couple themselves. But its long-range effect may be, although not discernible, even more damaging to a good social order.

Most of us live by models. We look to others for examples of decency, of order, of affection and loyalty. And when we see such apparently happy unions disintegrate, it cannot but arouse our own doubts and anxieties about the whole network of social relations we have laboriously constructed for ourselves.

In the past, there has been too much emphasis on the evil consequences of divorce, and not enough stress placed on the art of marriage. A few religious groups have begun premarital training courses, but there is nothing like a widespread program of education to prepare young people for a realistic approach to the rigors of matrimony.

And such a program must delve into the emotional components of love, and must utilize our latest knowledge of psychological drives. If it is purely a moral or religious approach, it will not attract precisely those youngsters who stand most in need of counseling.

Each divorce severs another strand in the fabric of society, and loosens the bonds not only between husband and wife but between all couples who find their social groups unraveling. With or without children, it is never true that a divorce "hurts only" those who are directly involved in it.

C of C Director Resigns Post In New London

Alfred C. Lau Will Move to Plymouth For Borden Foods

NEW LONDON — Alfred C. Lau, 1402 Smith St., who resigned from the New London Chamber of Commerce board of directors Wednesday, is being transferred to the Borden Foods Company plant in Plymouth. Lau will be moving from the city shortly.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting Bill Braun, news director of WLIH radio, was named to contact a speaker for the chamber's annual meeting Jan. 11 at the Rainbow Supper Club.

Plan Institute

Arnold Kohl, Farm Institute chairman, said chairmen had been named for the Jan. 15 event and plans and committees were being organized. Prominent persons in agriculture, education and conservation are being contacted to participate in the program.

Don Pederson, retail committee chairman, will organize the annual Christmas program. Santa visits all district schools and distributes candy to open the extra-hour shopping season, usually two weeks prior to Christmas.

Harry Emans, executive secretary, reported that 2,500 cars were stopped last month on "Hospitality Day" of Wonderful Wisconsin Week. The majority of cars stopped on that Saturday were headed north on U.S. 45, he said.

Chamber officials termed their first school bus safety road-e-o as "very successful." W. A. Bender said there was enthusiasm for the program among the participants, law enforcement officials and motor vehicle department representatives who took part.

Bender said the program was the first of its kind in the state and that several suggestions for improving it were given by drivers and judges after the first competition.

Doubtful if Tri-County Bill Will Get Out of Committee

Legislator Writes to Calumet Bar

CHILTON — The controversial tri-county merger bill probably will be held in committee indefinitely and will not be scheduled for hearing during this fall's term of the state legislature according to Assemblyman Bernard Lewison (R-Viroqua), chairman of the State Affairs Committee.

His opinion was expressed in a letter to Robert Lutz, Chilton, president of the Calumet County Bar Association.

Organize Opposition

After the initial shock of the proposal wore off, organized opposition to the bill developed in all three counties with the strongest coming from Calumet County where the various Chambers of Commerce and Businessmen's Associations banded together to fight the plan.

Martin, in a talk before the Neenah-Menasha Optimist Club this week admitted introduction of the bill was "somewhat precipitous." However, he predicted the bill would be considered by the legislature in 1969.

He said that given the chance to do it over again they probably would have conducted discussions with citizen groups and public officials before introducing the proposed legislation.

Study Sidetracked

Martin added that the amount of "emotion" prompted by the bill came unexpectedly upon himself and Froehlich. As a result, he said, "We are busy defending the introduction of the bill and are getting sidetracked from studying the merits of the proposal and from delving into solutions for local government problems."

Lutz, in response to Lewison's letter, said "we are pleased that apparently some members of the assembly appreciate the lack of validity of bill 1023 and will put it where it belongs — to sleep."

However, he added, "It is unfortunate the proposal was ever introduced, and once being introduced, could not meet the fate it so richly deserves — to be soundly defeated on the floor of the assembly."

County Budget Hearings Set

Outagamie Finance Committee Plans 1st Talks Monday

The proposed 1968 Outagamie County budget will start coming under the scrutiny of the Finance Committee Monday morning. The committee will meet every day next week except Tuesday when the county board meets.

The final departmental budget was turned in to county executive late Tuesday and a preliminary late Tuesday and a proliminary budget total is expected later this week. Woehler told the Finance Committee Wednesday morning that it appears budget requests will be up about one-half million with much of that increase coming from the Department of Social Services.

Six departments are being requested to meet with the Finance Committee to go over their budgets in greater detail. Representatives of Riverview Sanatorium the county hospital and the Social Services Department will appear before the committee Wednesday.

On Thursday, the Extension Services department and the Park and Airport Committees have been asked to appear.

General review of the budget will start at 9 a.m. Monday.

Automobile Safety Checks at all area high schools participating in the Outagamie Teenage Safety Council program, are discussed by the newly-elected officers. In charge this year will be Mary Hermsen, Little Chute, secretary-treasurer; Kathy Van Hout, Kimberly, corresponding secretary, in front; Robert Jentz, Hortonville, president, standing left, and Ronald Conradt Shiocton, vice president. Participating high schools are Appleton East and West; Xavier and Fox Valley Lutheran, Appleton; St. John, Little Chute; Hortonville, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Shiocton, Seymour, Bear Creek, Little Chute and Freedom. Trucks Crash Behind Loading School Bus

WAUPACA — Damages of more than $100 resulted from a two-truck crash, one mile south of King on State 22 at 8:10 a.m. Tuesday.

Anthony P. Golja Jr., 32, route 1, Waupaca, stopped behind a school bus loading students and his truck was struck from behind by another truck driven by John A. Anderson, 31, route 1, Waupaca. Both trucks were traveling south at the time of the mishap, Waupaca County police said.

Brillion Board to Discuss Crowded School Conditions

Temporary, Permanent Solutions To be Subject of Special Meeting

BRILLION — Temporary and permanent solutions to the public school's crowded classroom conditions will be discussed at a special board of education meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

The need for more classrooms has been pondered here for over 2½ years, and now the possibility of using temporary classrooms is being considered.

Some persons are in favor of a new high school on a completely different site so the present combined facility could be used for junior high and grade school purposes.

Other contend that an addition should be built on the school to accommodate both high school students and grade school pupils at the present site, which is 16.9 acres.

Indicate Need

Most teachers favor a high school at another site because they feel grade and high school students should be separated. It is not a healthy environment when these students share the same playground, gym, cafeteria, library and toilet facilities, some teachers contend.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Berner-Shober and Kilp, Green Bay, and the school's financial consultants have said it would be more expensive to build an addition at the present site.

School district electors voted a year ago more than 2-1 against a referendum proposal which would have given the district the right to bond itself for $1.35 million for new high school construction on a new site.

After the referendum, district residents studied the feasibility of merging with the Stockbridge and Hilbert school districts. After a thorough investigation and several fact-finding meetings, electors in February of this year decided a tri-district merger was not the answer to Brillion's crowded classroom conditions.

School space problems were put on the shelf for a while, but have now been re-evaluated. Several new members are on the board of education.

Transportation Official Raps Federal Road Aid At Meeting of Towns

BY PETER GENIESSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LAKE DELTON — G. H. Bakke, secretary of the state department of transportation, joined town leaders in denouncing "bigness" in government as he attacked the federal aid system for highways Tuesday.

Bakke complained of cuts in Wisconsin's road aids at the 20th annual convention of the Wisconsin Towns Association and called for bonding to have a continuous highway program in the state.

"Bigness leads to incompetence and immorality," Bakke said, charging the federal government indiscriminately cut 50 per cent from the road aids last November and Monday asked for further cuts.

He said he received a telegram from Washington Monday offering a choice of cutting another 50 per cent, one-third or just $10 million from Wisconsin's allotment.

"We're rapidly approaching the day when we do what the state wants regardless of federal aids," Bakke declared.

"Let's run our own program and having a bonding capability is the only way," he said, citing that if the federal government cut funds, the projects could continue.

"By bonding, we can cut the apron strings loose from federal financing," he declared.

Bakke addressed the convention Tuesday morning following speeches by Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette.

He pointed to the consolidation of school districts in Pennsylvania which was promoted for efficiency and for quality education. Nobody can say what quality education is," De Lancey said, "and our taxes have gone sky high." He added, "They don't know what they're talking about."

Trey Kost, representing township officials in Illinois, urged the towns to "keep a man on the firing line in the legislature" to assure favorable bills and retain powers for local government.

Immunization Center Planned at Amherst

Discussions to Acquaint Group With Education Goals, Programs of District

MARION — The school board initiated a new procedure Monday night as it had an informal discussion period before the regular meeting with district faculty members concerning educational goals of the system.

The discussions are geared to acquaint board members with faculty and programs. Kindergarten and primary grades teachers met with board members Monday.

At the regular meeting Supt. Lloyd Nell told the board that exterior lighting improvements of Caroline and Marion elementary schools will be completed by the Marion Radio and Appliance and Radtke Electric in two or three months.

Murray Meyer was instructed by the board to purchase the land on which the Lake Michael School is located.

The board voted to borrow $50,000 from the bank to meet the current operating expenses until the state aids and tax monies are received.

Mrs. William McInnis reported on the School Board Institute she attended Oct. 7 in Eau Claire. This led to a discussion of the vocational-technical program and the resulting tax levy increase in the district.

The board will permit designation of certain high school areas as fallout shelters, as requested by the State Bureau of Civil Defense. Emergency materials will be stored there.

12 Suspended

The board also upheld the suspension of 12 athletes who had violated training rules. The boys had been suspended by the coaches and principal Robert Peterson.

School board members voted to extend the code affecting athletes in high school to cover grades 7 through 12.

The board handed the task of revising of the code on policies regarding teacher - board relationships to the personnel committee, which will report its findings to the board. The committee will meet Oct. 24.

Shawano Girl's Complaint

Beauty School Policy Leads To Charges in Legislature

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The complaint of a Shawano County girl and others about alleged practices of the City College of Cosmetology in Appleton led Tuesday to a state legislator being accused of a conflict of interest.

A chain of events apparently was touched off when Miss Donna Carlson, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Eland, who had been a student at the college, complained to her assemblyman about girls being put on "leaves of absence."

Three other students at the college also reportedly contacted attorneys about the leave policy which was to have gone into effect in early September but was subesequently rescinded when complaints mounted.

Questions Interest

The controversy came to light at Madison Tuesday afternoon when Assemblyman Herbert Grover (D-Shawano) charged that Sen. Jerris Leonard (R-Bayside) Republican majority leader, was involved in a conflict of interest.

Grover said he based his charge on information that Leonard, an attorney, partner in a Milwaukee law firm representing the beauty college chain, attempted to block a move by the state to impose regulations on the schools.

Leonard's law firm represents nine of the 23 cosmetology schools in the state.

Legal Counsel

It is legal counsel for Accredited Schools of Beauty Culture, the Milwaukee-based firm which operates identical schools at Appleton and Green Bay in the Fox Valley.

Ames M. Harrington, president, could not be reached for comment at his Milwaukee office today, and the manager of the Appleton school was out of the city.

Leonard said he had no comment on the charge and labeled it "ridiculous."

Grover claimed he had been told by Leonard's law partner to stay out of the case, and the situation involving Miss Carson would be settled.

Grover said the conflict of interest finger pointed at Leonard because he was representing a private business as an attorney in a case involving a state agency while serving as a member of the legislature.

An administrative officer for the State Board of Health confirmed a move is underway to set regulations on the cosmetology schools, the latter to be asked to voluntarily set their own code.

All of the cosmetology schools are licensed by the state, and after complaints were made locally, investigators talked with a few girls who said they were told to take a leave of absence by Sept. 9, and later did not have to.

The reason given was that the school could not provide enough patrons so enrollees could complete the course they had paid for.

Miss Carlson paid $435 in tuition for the one year course and said when the girls were told of the new leave of absence policy they talked it over among themselves.

While on such leaves the girls would not have been eligible to obtain licenses and this disturbed them the most, it was reported.

It was also pointed out by students that there was a requirement trainees supply their own patrons so they could complete a required number of assignments, such as giving permanents.

Writes Assemblyman

Miss Carlson said after she wrote to her assemblyman (Grover) he contacted school officials. She was told a short time later there would be no "leave of absence policy" and the girls involved would be able to stay and finish out their course.

Last Saturday Miss Carlson finished requirements to receive her diploma.

Arnold Kohl, Farm Institute chairman, said chairmen had been named for the Jan. 15 event and plans and committees were being organized. Prominent persons in agriculture, education and conservation are being contacted to participate in the program.

Brillion Board to Discuss Crowded School Conditions

Temporary, Permanent Solutions To be Subject of Special Meeting

BRILLION — Temporary and permanent solutions to the public school's crowded classroom conditions will be discussed at a special board of education meeting at 8 p m Monday.

The need for more classrooms has been pondered here for over 2½ years, and now the possibility of using temporary classrooms is being considered.

Some persons are in favor of a new high school on a completely different site so the present combined facility could be used for junior high and grade school purposes

Other contend that an addition should be built on the school to accommodate both high school students and grade school pupils at the present site, which is 16 9 acres.

Indicate Need

School officials have pointed out that increasing enrollments, school census figures and community growth indicate a need for a new high school

Most teachers favor a high school at another site because they feel grade and high school students should be separated. It is not a healthy environment when these students share the same playground, gym, cafeteria, library and toilet facilities, some teachers contend

Representatives of the architectural firm of Berner-Shober and Kilp, Green Bay, and the school's financial consultants have said it would be more expensive to build an addition at the present site

School district electors voted a year ago more than 2-1 against a referendum proposal which would have given the district the right to bond itself for $1 35 million for new high school construction on a new site.

After the referendum, district residents studied the feasibility of merging with the Stockbridge and Hilbert school districts After a thorough investigation and several fact-finding meetings, electors in February of this year decided a tri-district merger was not the answer to Brillion's crowded classroom conditions

Since the September, 1966 referendum vote many hours of the board of education's meetings have been spent discussing the year-old Brillion Cooperative Vocational School

School space problems were "put on the shelf" for a while, but have now been re-evaluated. Several new members are on the board of education.

Legislator Writes to Calumet Bar

CHILTON — The controversial tri-county merger bill probably will be held in committee indefinitely and will not be scheduled for hearing during this fall's term of the state legislature according to Assemblyman Bernard Lewison (R-Viroqua), chairman of the State Affairs Committee

His opinion was expressed in a letter to Robert Lutz, Chilton, president of the Calumet County Bar Association.

Organize Opposition

After the initial shock of the proposal wore off, organized opposition to the bill developed in all three counties with the strongest coming from Calumet County where the various Chambers of Commerce and Businessmen's Associations banded together to fight the plan

Martin, in a talk before the Neenah-Menasha Optimist Club this week admitted introduction of the bill was "somewhat precipitous." However, he predicted the bill would be considered by the legislature in 1969.

He said that given the chance to do it over again they probably would have conducted discussions with citizen groups and public officials before introducing the proposed legislation.

Study Sidetracked

Martin added that the amount of "emotion" prompted by the bill came unexpectedly upon himself and Froehlich. As a result, he said, "We are busy defending the introduction of the bill and are getting sidetracked from studying the merits of the proposal and from delving into solutions for local government problems."

Lutz, in response to Lewison's letter, said "we are pleased that apparently some members of the assembly appreciate the lack of validity of bill 1023 and will put it where it belongs — to sleep."

However, he added, "It is unfortunate the proposal was ever introduced, and once being introduced, could not meet the late it so richly deserves — to be soundly defeated on the floor of the assembly."

Transportation Official Raps Federal Road Aid At Meeting of Towns

BY PETER GENIESSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LAKE DELTON — G. H. Bakke, secretary of the state department of transportation, joined town leaders in denouncing "bigness" in government as he attacked the federal aid system for highways Tuesday

Bakke complained of cuts in Wisconsin's road aids at the 20th annual convention of the Wisconsin Towns Association and called for bonding to have a continuous highway program in the state

"Bigness leads to incompetence and immorality," Bakke said, charging the federal government indiscriminately cut 50 per cent from the road aids last November and Monday asked for further cuts

He said he received a telegram from Washington Monday offering a choice of cutting another 50 per cent, one-third or just $10 million from Wisconsin s allotment

"We're rapidly approaching the day when we do what the state wants regardless of federal aids," Bakke declared

"Let's run our own program and having a bonding capability is the only way," he said, citing that if the federal government cut funds, the projects could continue

"By bonding, we can cut the apron string loose from federal financing," he declared.

Bakke addressed the convention Tuesday morning following speeches by Gov Warren P Knowles and Atty Gen Bronson La Follette

Several town leaders from other states joined Bakke in attacking "bigness" in government, pointing to the proud tradition o the township form of government

He pointed to the consolidation of school districts in Pennsylvania which was promoted for efficiency and for quality education Nobody can say what quality education is " De Lancey said, "and our taxes have gone sky high " He added, "They don t know what they're talking about "

De Lancey said a national association of towns was being formed in Washington to promote legislation beneficial to smaller units of government

Chester Hummell, head of the Ohio Association of Township Trustees asked the towns to meet the challenges of change in rural America.

Trex Kost representing township officials in Illinois, urged the towns to "keep a man on the firing line in the legislature" to assure favorable bills and return powers for local government

Shawano Girl's Complaint

Beauty School Policy Leads To Charges in Legislature

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The complaint of a Shawano County girl and others about alleged practices of the City College of Cosmetology in Appleton led Tuesday to a state legislator being accused of a conflict of interest.

A chain of events apparently was touched off when Miss Donna Carlson, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Eland, who had been a student at the college, complained to her assemblyman about girls being put on "leaves of absence."

Three other students at the college also reportedly contacted attorneys about the leave policy which was to have gone into effect in early September but was subesequently rescinded when complaints mounted.

Questions Interest

The controversy came to light at Madison Tuesday afternoon when Assemblyman Herbert Grover (D-Shawano) charged that Sen. Jerris Leonard (R-Bayside) Republican majority leader, was involved in a conflict of interest.

Grover said he based his charge on information that Leonard, an attorney, partner in a Milwaukee law firm representing the beauty college chain, attempted to block a move by the state to impose regulations on the schools.

Leonard's law firm represents nine of the 23 cosmetology schools in the state

Legal Counsel

It is legal counsel for Accredited Schools of Beauty Culture, the Milwaukee-based firm which operates identical schools at Appleton and Green Bay in the Fox Valley.

Ames M. Harrington, president, could not be reached for comment at his Milwaukee office today, and the manager of the Appleton school was out of the city.

Leonard said he had no comment on the charge and labeled it "ridiculous."

Grover claimed he had been told by Leonard's law partner to stay out of the case, and the situation involving Miss Carson would be settled.

Grover said the conflict of interest finger pointed at Leonard because he was representing a private business as an attorney in a case involving a state agency while serving as a member of the legislature.

An administrative officer for the State Board of Health confirmed a move is underway to set regulations on the cosmetology schools, the latter to be asked to voluntarily set their own code.

All of the cosmetology schools are licensed by the state, and after complaints were made locally, investigators talked with a few girls who said they were told to take a leave of absence by Sept 9, and later did not have to.

Algoma	4	1
De Pere	4	1
West De Pere	3	2
Bay Port	3	2
Seymour	2	3
Ashwaubenon	2	3
Kewaunee	2	3
Bonduel	1	4
Pulaski	0	5
Oconto	0	5

Games Friday:
Sturgeon Bay at Algoma
Bay Port at Oconto Falls
Seymour at Bonduel
West De Pere at Kewaunee

Games Saturday:
De Pere at Ashwaubenon
Pulaski at Oconto

And then there was one.

The Oconto Falls Panthers remained the last unbeaten team in the Northeastern Wisconsin Conference football race last weekend with a 35-6 romp over Bonduel. Previous co-leader De Pere absorbed a 14-0 blanking from Algoma.

The Redbirds' first loss in five starts created a 3-way scramble for second place, as Algoma moved up along with Sturgeon Bay — all with 4-1 records. West De Pere and Bayport round out the NEW's first division with 3-2 marks.

Oconto Falls, which has scored 106 points while limiting its opponents to just 13 in league play, figures to retain the loop lead when it entertains Bay Port at home Friday night.

Other Friday night tilts find Sturgeon Bay visiting Algoma in the battle for second place, West De Pere hits the road to Kewaunee, and Seymour invades Bonduel. De Pere goes to Ashwaubenon and Pulaski journeys to Oconto in a fight to escape the cellar.

2 of Top 5

The Seymour-Bonduel battle will pit two of the league's top five passers against each other. The Indians' Pete King ranks second to Oconto Falls' Dan Coopman in yardage gained but has the most completions with 34 in 77 tries. Ken Boettcher, of the Bears, has the top completion percentage in the circuit with 57 per cent on 23 of 40. He ranks fifth in yards gained passing.

Seymour gained its second win in five games last Friday by whipping punchless Oconto, 25-0, as Wes Neilson scored two touchdowns and Don Heagle and King one each. The Blue Devils have managed to score just seven points in conference play.

Bonduel staved on even terms with OF the first quarter, but a Bears' fumble on their own 15-yard line gave the Panthers the momentum they needed in the second period.

Coopman ran eight yards for one TD and passed for two others to lead the winners. Tom Betzner accounted for the lone Bonduel score on a 36-yard pass from Ken Boettcher in the last frame.

The Brilion High School Art Club will display oil paintings, sketches and pottery from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday in the school gymnasium. Preparing a display are, from left, Cindy Ott, Mary Garrow, club president, and Debbie Rowland.

Only Conference Game

Manawa and 'Wega Will Collide Friday

	W	L
Waupaca	2	0
Wittenberg	2	0
Manawa	1	1
Weyauwega	0	1
Marion	0	3

Games Friday:
Waupaca at Luxemburg
Marion at Amherst
Manawa at Weyauwega.

Game Saturday:
Wittenberg at Iola-Scandinavia.

Waupaca's Comets, who figured to breeze to the Central Wisconsin Conference football title after getting past chief challenger Manawa in the first league game of the season, suddenly find themselves tied for first place with an upstart Wittenberg team with two conference games remaining.

The Wildcats surprised Weyauwega, 7-6, last Friday night for their second victory without a loss to create the deadlock. It was the lone conference game of the weekend. Manawa built up a 19-0 lead in the first three periods and then held off a Manitowoc Roncalli surge in the final quarter for a 19-12 non-conference victory on the road and the Comets fell before New Holstein, 14-7.

All five of the CW's clubs get back into action this Friday and Saturday, but like most of the previous weekends in the 1967 season, only one tilt will have a bearing on the conference standings.

Single League Game

The single league game pits once-beaten Weyauwega at home against Manawa Friday night while Waupaca and Marion have road engagements at Luxemburg and Amherst, respectively. Wittenberg journeys to Iola-Scandinavia on Saturday.

Four of the circuit's five clubs still have a shot at the title, with only Marion out of consideration. The Mustangs, the only team to have played three conference games, have lost all three and have one date remaining with Weyauwega in addition to a non-conference game with Iola-Scandinavia.

Favored Waupaca still must face Weyauwega and Wittenberg, while Wittenberg must get by Manawa before meeting the Comets on the final weekend in what could be the loop's championship game.

Major Airport Expansion Proposed by Consultants

Cost Estimated at $2,026 950 For 17 Recommended Projects

Recommendations from Ralph H Burke Associates, airport consultants for Outagamie County, would give the county, if accepted, two runways, one 6,000 feet long and the other 7,000 feet, with accompanying taxiways, a new terminal building, fire station, perimeter fencing an additional apron area and automobile parking space

Cost estimates to do all the work and complete the project are $2,026,950. This includes two projects which have been approved for federal and state aid but the grants have not been deducted from the total cost estimates

Recommended taxiway work would cost an estimated $842,000 This would include 1,500 feet to complete the taxiway for the new runway now under construction, 1,590 feet of taxiway for the proposed addition to the new runway, and 6,000 feet of taxiway for the existing runway and the proposed addition to that runway

Runway Construction

Proposed runway construction would cost an estimated $501,750 This includes a total of 1,800 feet to be added to the southwest end of the new runway and 800 feet to the southeast end of the existing runway.

Other recommended items include $200,000 for a terminal building, $35,000 for a building to house the airport fire truck, $67,000 for fencing around the property, $62,000 for additional automobile parking and roadways, $89,100 for apron space for future fixed base operators, $121,000 for aprons for future additional T-hangars, $89,100 for apron space for corporation hangars and $20,000 for air easements.

Airport Committee members have indicated they will probably seek to have the runway and taxiway work done as soon as possible and complete other projects on a need basis. Some of the items probably would be deferred a number of years

Committee members indicated they would explore the possibility of using the present terminal building for a fire station if another terminal is constructed.

A total of $173,800 in federal and state grants has been approved and county officials are hopeful other federal aids will be made available Of the 17 items outlined in the recommendations, only three, the apron for corporate aircraft, automobile parking and the terminal, are definitely ineligible for federal aid

On the remaining items, there is the possibility of federal assistance of up to 50 per cent of the cost. In addition, on projects eligible for federal aid, state aid of either $30,000 or $35,000 is also possible.
